SIR HENRY IRVING DROPS DEAD AFTER EVENING ON THE STAGE

SIR HENRY IRVING.

Distinguished Actor Expires Immediately Following Attack of Syncope.

BRILLIANT HISTRIONIC CAREER

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

LONDON, Oct. 13.—The English-speaking world has suffered an irreparable loss by the sudden death tonight of Sir Henry Irving, who was universally regarded as the most representative English actor of contemporary times.

Sir Henry died literally in harness. He was giving a series of farewell performances in the English provinces and this week was playing an engagement at Bradford, appearing in several favorite roles. Thursday he presented "King Rene's Daughter" and "The Bells," and seemed to be in excellent health, taking the exhausting part of Matthias in the latter play with all the vigor of youth.

Tonight, before an enthusiastic audience, he portrayed one of his most characteristically intellectual parts, the title role in his own stage adaptation of Lord Tennyson's "Becket," with marked success.

Dies Without a Word.

After the performance Sir Henry returned to his hotel, reaching his rooms at 11:30 o'clock, when it was observed that he was in great pain. Physicians were immediately summoned, but before they could arrive Sir Henry was seized with an attack of syncope and expired within a few minutes, without having uttered a word, in the presence of Bram Stoker, who had been his immediate manager for many years, and a few other intimate friends. The event caused the greatest pain and consternation among the members of the company.

To the last moments of his life, Sir Henry Irving's heart was in the work to which he had devoted his career—the raising of the standard of his art. On Wednesday he was entertained at luncheon in the Bradford town hall, at which the mayor presented him an address from his admirers.

In replying to the address Sir Henry spoke of himself as one the sands of whose life were fast running out, but no one then present had the slightest idea that the end would come so soon.

Advocated Municipal Theaters.

He proceeded to eloquently advocate the establishment of theaters by municipalities, "because," he said, "I believe that by this means the standard of the true drama as distinguished from miscellaneous entertainments would be successfully upheld.

"Money is spent like water for all kinds of philanthropic and educational objects," he continued, "but who amongst you ever dreams of endowing the theater. I am sure the time will come when you will regard the theater as necessary to a liberal education and be prepared to consider any reasonable suggestions for the extension of its legitimate influence. It may be that in years to come our countrymen will scarcely understand how in our times so potent an instrument of good or ill as the stage was left entirely outside the sphere of public administration."

Sir Henry's last appearances in London were made last summer, following his serious illness, when the enthusiasm at the nightly receptions accorded him in the historic Drury Lane theater will long be remembered. Since then he has been engaged in touring the provinces and contemplated another visit to the United States.

The news of the death of Sir Henry Irving was received too late to permit of more than brief announcements in tomorrow morning's London newspapers. The Daily Telegraph and the Morning Post, however, will print lengthy memoirs speaking of him as the greatest actor of his period.

The Morning Post will say: "No stronger personality, no more unflagging activity, has within living memory adorned the English stage. His death is a national loss and his memory a national possession. Had he gone to the bar, he would have reached the bench—it into the church, he would have become

CAPTAIN TAGGART WINS HIS SUIT AGAINST WIFE

Army Officer Is Granted a Divorce and the Custody of the Two Children.

MRS. TAGGART IS VERY ILL

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

WOOSTER, O., Oct. 13.—In a decision, the reading of which lasted from a few minutes after 2 o'clock this afternoon until 10:30 this evening, with an hour's intermission for supper, Judge Eason rendered his decree in the Taggart divorce case, giving Capt. Taggart a divorce on the grounds of infidelity and cruelty and leaving the custody of the children to an agreement to be made by the parties in the suit, with the provision that if they do not agree they shall go to Capt. Taggart. Judge Eason stated he considered that misconduct was proven in the case of Lieut. Fortesque at Fort Leavenworth and with William Taggart, better known as "Billy," of Orrville, O. Extreme cruelty was proven, he said, when Mrs. Taggart left him at Fort Leavenworth when he was critically ill.

Gen. Miner did not escape a severe scoring. Judge Eason said: "I am not sure that he was not implicated in this more than it appears on the surface." Judge Eason also scored Miner for falsifying Taggart's record and bringing in the bad things he is alleged to have done and leaving out the good service for which Miner had complimented him in the spring of 1903.

Comments on Taggart's Love.

"I think Taggart's love was marvelous," said Judge Eason, "for even when he knew his wife was guilty of being untrue he still wished for the children's sake to forgive her and live with her again. The only blot cast upon Capt. Taggart is that by Emma and Mrs. Vose 'for a tobacco-chewing Filipino.'"

Judge Eason then read the list of promotions and military commendations received by Taggart. Commenting upon them, he said: "A man could not drink all night, as has been charged, and perform his duties as a soldier."

The judge read some letters that passed between Capt. Taggart and Mrs. Taggart during his illness at Fort Leavenworth. He commented sarcastically on her answers to his pleading for her love and the children. He declared she was heartless and cruel. Capt. Taggart's declaration, "It is awful to be separated from my wife," he characterized as a wail from a broken soul. Judge Eason reviewed the endearing letters written by Capt. Taggart to his wife and called attention to the circumstances under which these letters were written.

The Cafe Incident.

He paid a glowing tribute to Capt. Taggart's loyalty and declared the letters were written largely while he was under duress. Commenting upon the Mantanzas cafe incident, he said:

"The first time Capt. Taggart saw the flush of liquor on his wife's brow he should have banished liquor from his sideboard." Commenting upon the allegations as to the use of intoxicants by officers he said: "It can be said to the credit of the army that this entire case has not developed one single case of drunkenness."

"As to the cruelty charge with regard to what took place on the night of June 30, I believe the story of Capt. Taggart is the more reasonable. She gave him the greatest provocation that a woman can give a man."

Judge Eason spoke feelingly of the early life of Capt. and Mrs. Taggart and said concerning the children:

"I have this satisfaction that any or-

GRAFT CHARGES GET HEARING IN COURT

Judge Gordon Appears for Weaver Against Alleged Conspirators.

POWELL IS WITNESS

City Architect Tells of Finding Material in Hospital Inferior to That Specified.

M'NICHOL MAY BE CALLED

The Pittsburgh Gazette Bureau, Press Building, PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 13.

Ex-Mayor Samuel H. Ashbridge and W. B. Powell, city architect, were the important witnesses in today's hearing before Magistrate Eisenbrown of the conspiracy charges against ex-Director A. L. English, architect Philip Johnson, James D. Finley, John W. Henderson and Henry E. Baton, the latter two of the firm of Henderson & Co., contractors. Mr. Powell testified that in nearly every part of the work, material, not in the specifications was used. The substitution, he said, lessened the cost of the work.

Ex-Mayor Ashbridge and ex-Judge James Gordon played a give-and-take game all the time the former was on the stand. No attempt was made by either to conceal their deep personal bitterness toward each other, and it found expression in question and answer.

Senator James P. McNichol and his brother, Daniel J. McNichol, were present, but were not called. They will probably be placed on the stand tomorrow, also Israel W. Durham, who was summoned today. While the defendants are barred from producing evidence at the preliminary hearing, their only chance for a showing being the cross-examination of witnesses for the prosecution, it is understood the defense will be that all changes of specifications were made at the instance of the director of the department or the superintendent of the bureau; that the architect was obliged to follow their instructions, and the contractors those of the architect.

Specifications Are Shown.

Judge Gordon was assisted by Attorneys Charles H. Tuttle, David Wallerstein and William M. Meredith. Attorneys A. S. L. Shields and ex-Judge Maxwell Stevenson were counsel for the defendants. An hour was spent in the identification of the proposals for bids, the architect's contract and the signatures thereto.

The contract for the building was awarded to Henderson & Co. March 6, 1903, the price being $145,700. Former Judge Gordon offered in evidence the proposals submitted by Henderson & Co. The items included one for the entire work without tiling at a cost of $135,000; one with tiling at $142,700, and a third without tiling and with maple instead of mastic flooring at $125,000. It was shown through documentary evidence that Philip H. Johnson, the architect, had been instructed to draw up plans for the building at a cost of $142,000. It was also shown that Mr. Johnson had appointed James D. Finley an inspector of the work after the contract had been awarded.

City Architect Powell produced the original plans which were dated February 5, 1903, and was shown another set of specifications for the same building which had been drawn by Mr. Johnson on June 1 the same year, after the contract had been awarded.

The first break in the dull routine of records and figures came when Henry C. Witt testified that James D. Finley, the inspector on the work, had, prior to his appointment, been for 18 years engaged in the flour and grain business in partnership with witness' wife. This fact Gordon developed for the purpose of showing Finley's competency as an inspector.

Where Changes Were Made.

City Architect Powell was the prosecution's star witness. In very nearly every particular he said the material used was not that specified. He said tiling was only used in two wards, that the foundations were not of the required dimensions, the reduction being from 19 to 13 inches; that the iron girders were all under weight, that instead of hollow tile metal, lathe was used and maple instead of mastic or concrete flooring, and that instead of 101,179 pounds of steel called for, only 86,000 pounds had been used.

Telephone conduits specified, he said, were not installed, neither was the system of sewers, the nearest thing being a main sewer, 500 feet distant from the building. Blind pipes, he said, were substituted for French drains. The grano-

TENTH'S CHAPLAIN MAKES RECORD AT BULLSEYE

Eighteenth Regiment Team Captures First Prize at National Guard Shoot.

CAPT. SHIELDS GETS TROPHY

A minister of the gospel who incidentally leads in the prayers and reads the hymns for the Tenth regiment, National Guard of Pennsylvania, came in from Little Washington yesterday and took the honors for straight bull's eyes at one of the most important target matches ever held by the state militia. He was the Rev. Henry W. Temple, chaplain of the Tenth. He stood side by side with Gen. John A. Wiley, commander of the Second brigade, and perforated the bull's eye in a manner that surprised even the crack marksmen of the brigade.

The exhibition of skill on the part of the chaplain, who was arrayed against the experts among the field and staff officers of the governor and of the Second brigade, was only one of the star features of a busy day with the Krags. More ammunition was used than was fired away by the Rough Riders at Las Guasimus or by the fighters of the Tenth at Malate, but there were few shots that failed to make a puncture near the center of the targets.

The shoot was arranged by Col. Frank R. Patterson, inspector general of rifle practice, and was given for teams composed of members of the governor's staff, the division staff, the Second brigade staff and the teams of the various Western Pennsylvania regiments. The division staff did not appear, but the governor's staff, the Second brigade and the Tenth, Fourteenth and Eighteenth regiments were on hand with some of their best marksmen.

Good Shooting by Amateurs.

It was an ideal day for the shoot. Except at the 200-yard range the wind assisted the marksmen and the bright, warm sunshine was altogether in their favor. Never had such a match been arranged. The only enlisted men eligible for the contest were the non-commissioned staff officers. The trophies were fine and the enthusiasm, keyed up by a generous fund of refreshments, put everybody in a proper mood to enjoy the contest.

Some of the contestants had never appeared on a rifle range before as participants, and when they watched the man in the pit hoist the signals for bull's eyes their joy was like that of the boy who gets an extra holiday. Col. Lew T. Brown never shot very much, but yesterday he was the right bower of Col. Patterson. Lieut.-Col. T. J. Keenan, who long boosted target practice and who is marked on the roster as "retired," took up the rifle with his accustomed alacrity. Col. Albert J. Logan, whose position on the general staff is to look after the commissary trains, handled the gun as if he intended shooting red squirrels out at the Country club, and made a good score. The shoot began at 10 o'clock in the morning and continued until 4 o'clock.

MR. VANDERBILT IS DUMPED FROM HIS AUTO

With His Chauffeur He Is Going at 90-Mile Clip When Machine Overturns.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 13.—Alfred G. Vanderbilt and Paul Bartlett, the Italian automobile driver, had a narrow escape from serious injury while racing in Mr. Vanderbilt's high-powered automobile over the Vanderbilt cup course on Long Island today. They had taken the car out for a trial spin and were going at a speed of 90 miles an hour down the narrow road from Albertson's station toward the double reverse curve that is the dread of every driver entered for tomorrow's race. To the watching crowd at the turn it seemed that the machine was beyond control and would shoot straight ahead into the field.

Within 20 yards of this sharp curve Mr. Vanderbilt slapped on the brakes. There was a succession of loud reports and the wheels skidded across the gutter and against the soft earth at the side where three big telephone poles were directly in its path.

By a fraction of an inch the machine missed the first of them and its rear wheels actually grazed the second. Then the machine turned over on its side and threw its occupants out into the soft earth. Bartori was slightly bruised, but Mr. Vanderbilt was uninjured. They righted the machine and finished the course.

DOES NOT CONSIDER TRADING WIVES ROBBERY

Thomas Hanson Believes He Has the Best Bargain, as His Present Lady Love is the Largest.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

WASHINGTON, PA., Oct. 13.—"Fair exchange is no robbery, he took my wife and I took his, and I got the best of the bargain, for the woman I got was the biggest," was the remark made to Chief of Police Alexander Rankin of Washington by Thomas Hanson of Wheeling, W. Va., who was arrested together with Mrs. Emily Loughman of the same city on a charge of elopement.

The pair were arrested here at the instance of the Wheeling police, who telephoned local officers to apprehend them. Hanson told the local officers that Frank Loughman some time ago ran away with his wife and in retaliation he eloped with Loughman's wife.

The Wheeling police were notified that the couple had been arrested, but replied that they would not come for them for a day and the pair were turned loose. They went to Midland, this county, on their "honeymoon."

SIX MINERS ARE IMPRISONED IN COAL MINE

Shaft Near Fredricktown on Fire and Entombed Men Are Probably Dead—Many Escape.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

FREDERICKTOWN, PA., Oct. 13.—Half a mile back from the entry six miners are imprisoned—perhaps dead—in the mine of the Clyde Coal Company. The mine is on fire and the belief is general that the entombed men cannot be reached in time to save their lives, even if they are not already dead. Two others were seriously burned in an explosion in the fan-house following the breaking out of the fire, one of them so fearfully that he will not live.

The imprisoned men are:

GEORGE KELLY, driver, married.
HOMER HARVEY, driver, married.
RICHARD MARSH, miner, married.
RICHARD MOFFY, miner, single.
DONSI LORENZO, miner, married.
CESTO BENADINI, miner, single.

The burned men are: L. D. Wood, 26 years old and married, burned about the face and back; may recover. Robert Virgin, a miner, frightfully burned about the body, cannot live.

Nearly 300 men were in the mine when the fire started. Its exact origin is not known, but it is supposed that it was caused by a wire becoming short-circuited and igniting the brattice-cloths, which serve to create draughts by means of which the mine is kept free from foul air. All but the six passed escaped. As soon as it was discovered that some of the men had been left behind in the mine, whose passages were penetrated with smoke and gases, two rescue parties began efforts to reach them, but at a late hour tonight a rescue had not been effected.

VICTIM OF FOUL PLAY IS FOUND DYING IN CELLAR

Wounds of Charles McMullen Received in Unknown Manner at Carrick Result in His Death.

While passing a vacant office on the Rosebud plan in Carrick borough at 10 o'clock last night Policeman Bauman of the Carrick force heard groans coming from the cellar. Upon investigating he found a man supposed to be Charles McMullen, lying in a semi-conscious condition with wounds on the neck and head.

The policeman summoned help and the man was taken to the grading camp and Dr. James Kirkpatrick, who had him removed to the South side hospital, where he died at 1 o'clock this morning.

From the character of the wounds and from the place in which he was found, it is thought McMullen was a victim of foul play. He is said to have been a workman at the grading camp.

THE LEADER'S STATEMENT IS REFUTED

In view of certain editorial expressions in yesterday's Pittsburgh Leader a Gazette reporter called on City Solicitor William B. Rodgers to ascertain his recollection of events that preceded the election of a city recorder in 1903. Mr. Rodgers was then, and still is, high in councils of the Citizens party; he himself was suggested for the Citizens nomination for recorder, although he did not want the nomination, and finally declined it. The Pittsburgh Gazette urged that he be nominated.

The Gazette reporter was told that Mr. Rodgers would know whether or not George T. Oliver had ever urged or even favored the nomination of Dr. Cadwallader Evans for recorder on the Citizens ticket, for Mr. Oliver, too, was then in the councils of the Citizens party and often conferred with Mr. Rodgers and others who were then Citizens party leaders concerning the prospective candidate.

Mr. Rodgers, therefore, was asked: "Did George T. Oliver ever urge the nomination of Dr. Cadwallader Evans or even favor or suggest him for the Citizens party nomination for recorder, and did Mr. Oliver's failure to support the Citizens party in the succeeding campaign for the recordership arise from the fact that Dr. Evans was not nominated?"

Mr. Rodgers replied:

"I do not believe that Mr. Oliver favored the nomination of Dr. Evans, for he expressed himself to the contrary to me personally. Therefore, I do not think that his leaving the Citizens party was caused by the failure to nominate Dr. Evans."

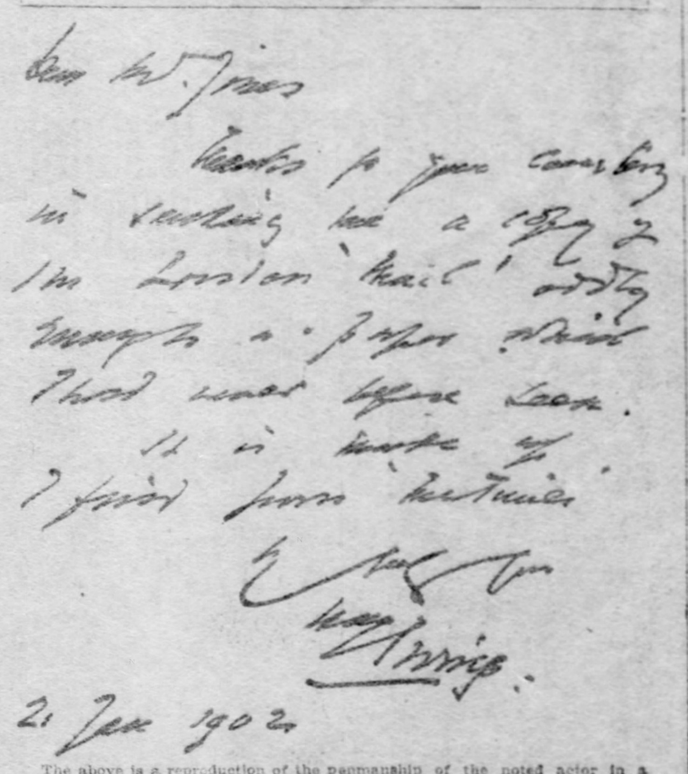
GREAT ENGLISH ACTOR LEAVES STAGE OF LIFE

UNIQUE LETTER CONTAINING AN ODD CONFESSION OF SIR HENRY IRVING



The above is a reproduction of the penmanship of the noted actor in a letter to a Pittsburgher. It is as follows:

Dear Mr. Jones—Thanks for your courtesy in sending me a copy of the London Mail. Oddly enough a paper which I had never before seen. It is made up, I find, from the Times.
Very truly yours,
HENRY IRVING.

IRVING'S DEATH MEANS GREAT LOSS TO STAGE

The Actor's Last Appearance in Pittsburgh—A Sketch of His Career and a Tribute to His Genius.

By CHARLES M. BREGG.

Sir Henry Irving's death removes from life the greatest actor of the English-speaking stage. This estimate is by no means exaggerated. By all the standards of the art of which he has stood for so many years the chief and most gifted expedient he must be regarded as a great actor. Great in breadth of intelligence, in scholarly interpretation, and in the personal force and genius that he brought to his work.

Born in 1838 it was not until nearly half a century afterward that his fame became world-wide. Honors followed rapidly upon his first great and impressive successes. He was given degrees by England's famous colleges, was entertained by royalty, and finally in 1896 was created a knight by Queen Victoria. These accumulating honors in no way dimmed the luster of his histrionic fame, for Mr. Irving was first of all an actor and was never tempted to forego the honors or even the hardships of that calling by the opportunities for more personal advancement that came to him.

He was born at Keinton, near Glastonbury, England, on February 6, 1838, and was christened John Henry Brodribb, his family name, Irving being later adopted as a stage name. He first began to act in 1856, but it was three years before he left the provinces and tried his fortunes in London. That he did not succeed to a large extent is proven by the fact that he remained in London only a short time, returning to the provinces where he toured in traveling companies until 1866. From that time until his death he moved from one degree of greatness to another. He became owner and manager of several London theaters, but never was conspicuously successful on the business side of his profession, always sacrificing gain for artistic thoroughness.

Mr. Irving came to America for the first time in 1883, and was seen at the Alvin theater during that season in a varied repertoire. From that time on he made periodical visits to this country, his last time being in the season of 1903-04, when he presented a magnificent spectacular play, "Dante," which was a failure and was not seen west of Philadelphia and New York. Mr. Irving came to Pittsburgh for the last time during the week of January 11, 1892, playing "The Bells," "Waterloo," "Merchant of Venice" and "Louis XI." Those who recall that visit will remember a notable speech of the great actor on Saturday evening of the engagement, in which he referred feelingly to his first visit 20 years before and to the pleasure it always gave him to come to this city. Miss Ellen Terry, who had been for so many years the partner in art of the player, was not with him on his last visit, a fact which he referred to with sadness in the speech of that evening.

The news of the death of Mr. Irving brings a sense of profound shock, for while it was known that his health was not robust, it was not generally known that he was failing in strength. He had arranged for an American visit next season, and hoped to bring over an entirely new play. The actor had made and lost several large fortunes, but it was hoped by his admirers that he would recover his losses during the next few years. Mr. Irving's son, Henry, is an actor of established reputation, and the English people look hopefully to see the young man succeed in a measure to the fame of his distinguished father.

Mr. Irving belonged to no school of acting. He created a school. Leaving the old methods of the Robertsonian school he became the chief representative of methods that sought by psychological impressiveness to present character study in realistic guise. His acting even of the strongest emotional quality never became ranting, nor did he lack vividness of diction or clearness of utterance. Endowed with great genius for heroic and historical interpretations his work was marred only by mannerisms that though constituting a defect never became great enough to him the luster of his art. His Shakespearian repertoire included all the well-known characterizations. His Shylock was his masterpiece and with all his variations from the classics he never rose higher than his characterization of the malevolent Jew. In it Irving's Shylock will have set the standard for all that has come after.

In American theatrical and social circles the actor was greatly esteemed and his death will bring a sense of personal loss, as it certainly means a loss to the theater of one of its greatest defenders and exponents, which the stage and the acted drama loses a distinguished and gifted representative.

a bishop. He chose the stage and was easily the foremost actor of his time."

The Times will say: "Henry Irving was a great actor, but his greatness sprung from a different source than that of any other actor who can be mentioned. The success of his famous predecessors lay in their power to affect the emotions of their audiences through the strength of their own emotions. Irving was not an emotional actor or one who touched the emotions. His greatness lay in his brain, not in his feelings, and his appeal was to the brain and not to the emotions. Wherever there was room for his brain to work he was at home, while anything approaching the commonplace, the full-blooded or the sentimental left his peculiar gifts unemployed."

FIRST STAGE APPEARANCE A COMPLETE FAILURE

Distinguished Actor Began Humbly, but Was Not Long in Realizing a Triumph.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

John Henry Brodribb, who assumed the name of Henry Irving, was born February 6, 1838, at Keinton, near Glatsonbury, Somersetshire, in the southwest of England. His father was said to have been a journeyman tailor, but this the actor himself publicly denied, without shedding any further light upon this side of his parentage. His mother, whose maiden name was Behenna, was a sister-in-law of Capt. Penberthy, a local celebrity in the mining districts of Halestown, Cornwall.

At the age of M he found himself in the employ of the Thackers, Indian merchants, in Newgate street, as a messenger boy. He rose to be a clerk in the office. But he and the desk could never agree. All his spare time was spent at such theaters as played poetical and romantic drama, or in attending elocution classes.

His ambition was gratified by the offer of a small engagement in the provinces. On September 29, 1856, he made his first public appearance at the newly opened Lyceum theater in Sunderland. The play was Bulwer's "Richelieu." The young actor, then for the first time known as Henry Irving, was cast for the character of the Duc d'Orleans, who speaks the opening words. His nervousness made this first appearance a failure. It is even said that two of his fellow players in the company—Dr. Samuel Johnson and Mr. Mead—had to intercede with the discouraged manager to prevent his summary dismissal. He remained at Sunderland throughout the autumn, playing small parts, and next year joined the Theater Royal, Edinburgh. At a farewell benefit given to him in Edinburgh he played Claude Melnotte to an enthusiastic house.

The Lyceum theater opened under his management on December 29, 1878, with a revival of "Hamlet," which ran for 100 nights. The Ophelia was Ellen Terry. Thus began the long partnership between the foremost actor and the foremost actress in England. Other revivals of his familiar roles followed, and then came the great success of both Irving and Terry in "The Merchant of Venice."

It was not until 1883 that he paid his first visit to the United States. The successes of 1883-84 were repeated in 1884-85, in 1887-88, in 1893-94 and in 1895-96.

In 1895 Irving was knighted by Queen Victoria at the instance of Lord Rosebery, and to the widely expressed satisfaction of all his countrymen. He never used the title, however, on the play bills.

Sir Henry Irving leaves a widow and two sons. He was married in 1885 to Miss Florence O'Callahan, daughter of an army surgeon and niece of the Irish historian of that name. The tragedy of his private life was never dragged before the public. His wife became insane and remains incurable.

THEATRICAL FOLK PAY HIGH TRIBUTE TO IRVING

Great Actor's Sudden Death a Great Shock to His Stage Friends in America.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 13.—To the actors, managers and theatergoing public of New York, the news of the death of Sir Henry Irving came as an overwhelming blow. It seemed that the bulletin announcing the great actor's sudden end had scarcely been received before the tidings had reached all the playhouses. Following are some of the tributes paid to the memory of Sir Henry:

Mr. and Mrs. Harrison Grey Fiske—The loss to the people of England and America, who were equally proud of him as a commanding international dramatic figure, will be keenly felt, while to his profession it will be irreparable.

Heinrich Conried—I am shocked and grieved, as he was a very dear friend of mine.

James K. Hackett—I doubt if any man of this generation has done so much to bring about the serious consideration of dramatic art, and its aims, as he.

A. L. Erlanger—I think the profession has lost the greatest intellectual figure that has ever been known in the theatrical world.

Daniel Frohman—He simply worked himself to death. His great intellectual qualities established him as the greatest Shakespearian interpreter in England.

Richard Mansfield—Irving was my dear friend, and it is impossible at the moment to say all I feel.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 13.—(Special.)—Charles Frohman, who in addition to having directed the tours Sir Henry Irving had made in America during recent years, was his devoted and admiring friend, was much affected by the news. All his powers of expression, Mr. Frohman said, were inadequate to express his sorrow.

OMAHA, NEB., Oct. 13.—(Special.)—E. S. Willard, the eminent English actor, received the news of Sir Henry Irving's death as he was coming from the stage on the last act of his performance, and said: "His death comes so much as a shock that I can hardly express my thoughts clearly. His loss is, of course, one that will be felt and lamented throughout the world."

SCHENECTADY, N. Y., Oct. 13.—(Special.)—E. H. Sothern, when told of Sir Henry Irving's death, said: "He was without doubt the greatest actor since the days of Keene. His work has tended to lift the stage socially, as well as surround it with an atmosphere of learning before unknown. He was a great man."

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 13.—(Special.)—Miss Viola Allen when told of Sir Henry Irving's death, said: "The loss of Sir Henry Irving is incalculable, not only to the stage, but to the hosts of friends who loved and admired him."

GRAFT IN RAILROADING.

Judge Knapp Suspects It Because Some Life Insurance Men Are Interested in Traffic.

ITHACA, N. Y., Oct. 13.—Judge Martin A. Knapp, chairman of the interstate commerce commission, delivered a lecture on the subject of "Government Regulation of Railroad Rates" before undergraduates of Cornell university today, in the course of which he suggested the possibility that a condition of affairs might exist in the railroads similar to that revealed in the investigation of the life insurance companies. He said:

"In looking over the names of men who are connected with the life insurance scandals, one thing alarms me, and yet it is a thing I can hardly believe to be true. These men are the same as those who control many of the great railroad interests of the country. Is there not a possibility we will find the same rottenness and graft at the bottom of the railroad system?"

Committee Reconsiders Action.

The public safety committee of Allegheny councils last night in special session reconsidered action on an ordinance requiring railroad companies to place steel fences alongside their tracks where they cross thoroughfares at grade. At the last meeting the ordinance was affirmatively recommended, but last night it was returned to councils with a negative recommendation. No other business was transacted.

AMID GROTESQUE SURROUNDINGS BELASCO HEARS OF IRVING'S DEATH

"In the death of Sir Henry Irving our stage has lost its greatest inspiration and there is no one to take his place. He was not only a great actor but a great stage director, and greatest of all, a faithful friend. In these dark days of the drama, both in Europe and America, all its well-wishers will deeply mourn their loss."

It was 11 o'clock last night when David Belasco, stepping from a confetti snowstorm on the stage of the Belasco theater, during the last act of "The Girl of the Golden West," was told by a reporter for The Gazette of Sir Henry's unexpected death.

At the same moment Miss Blanche Bates received her cue and came in haste from her dressing room, but in not such haste that she could not stop for a moment to hear the sad news. It was a grotesque setting for a scene of mourning as sincere as that which Mr. Belasco and Miss Bates felt for the great actor who had been called before the immortal curtain. Mr. Belasco dictated the above quotation amid the uncanny interruption of Indian war cries. Before he had concluded Miss Bates went on the stage. Outside the audience hailed the star with a tumult of applause. But Mr. Belasco did not hear this and repeated again: "The whole world will mourn as we mourned for poor old Joe Jefferson."

CUNLIFFE JOKES TO GRIM PURPOSE

Predicts a Year Ago the Theft Which Made Him a Hunted Fugitive from Justice.

WHAT J. EDGAR EBBERTS SAYS

"Give me that chance and see how I'll take advantage of it! Let the express company hand me a package of $450,000 and the police will soon be hunting me and the package."

These are the words that Edward George Cunliffe, the Adams Express Company's clerk, who last Monday night got away with $101,000, and for whom hundreds of thief-takers are still looking, used more than a year ago in talking to companions. The evidence of a fellow clerk is considered proof positive that Cunliffe was only awaiting an opportunity of getting his hands on a sum of money sufficiently large to "justify" him in taking long chances. At the time Cunliffe made the remarks quoted, it was thought he was joking; in the light of recent events it is realized that beneath the grin with which he uttered the sentences there was probably a deep set, determined purpose.

J. Edgar Ebberts, now bookkeeper for the United States Express Company, with an office on the second floor of the company's building in Wood street, is the man whose evidence dissipates the theory that Cunliffe succumbed to sudden temptation, when the $100,000 package was placed in his hands on Monday evening. Mr. Ebberts was working for the American Express Company a little more than a year ago, and among his fellow "depot men" at the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie railroad station, was Cunliffe, also employed by the American company. It was to Mr. Ebberts and to other express men present, that Cunliffe made the remark mentioned.

How Ebberts Transported $450,000.

Mr. Ebberts has worked for various express companies, always, on leaving the employ of one, securing a better place with another. Talking one day with Cunliffe and other employes at the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie station, he related an incident in his own career, when he was employed by the Adams Express Company. One evening he was ordered by the company from Pittsburgh to Washington. At the manager's office, in Ebberts' presence, a package containing $450,000 in cash was placed in a little safe, the proper papers were made out. Mr. Ebberts picked up the safe, rode with it on the express wagon to the station, and, with the safe in his hands, boarded the express car. The regular express messenger was, of course, on the car, and Mr. Ebberts had only the safe to guard. He stayed by it all night long and in the morning, arriving at his destination, got his receipt for the valuable consignment and quietly returned to Pittsburgh.

After telling the story Mr. Ebberts said to his little audience, in answer to some comments:

"Oh, yes, we express company employes often handle large sums and very little if any money is lost through us. No matter what precautions banks or express companies may take, in the end they must rely on the honesty of some one. You never hear of an expressman or a bank teller making away with actual cash, although he may handle hundreds of thousands of dollars in an hour."

Cunliffe's Joke a Grim One.

Cunliffe had listened attentively to Mr. Ebbert's story and the comments of the other clerks. At last he spoke up:

"Give me that chance and see how I'll take advantage of it. Let the express company hand me a $450,000 package of money and the police will soon be hunting me and the package."

Nobody thought anything of Cunliffe's remark at that time, believing he was only joking. Perhaps he meant it as a joke then, but brooding over the ease with which money could be taken, probably led him gradually to make up his mind to seize the first good opportunity. That opportunity came when he became temporary money clerk at the Adams Express Company's office, during the sickness of the regular man.

In this connection it is interesting to know that Cunliffe's action has not resulted in any radical changes in the money receiving department with any of the express companies. Men in authority with the companies here yesterday said that the recent suggestion that two clerks instead of one be employed to receive valuable packages, that one might be a check upon the other, had not been seriously considered; that it was easier to "keep tab" on one man than on two; that men on whose honesty the express company believes it can rely are chosen for important positions of trust, and that it is better to have one man than two share the duties. In fact, it seemed to be the opinion that one money clerk in an office is more apt to be honest than if a second is assigned to help him, for with one men suggestions to dishonesty would have to come from within his own bosom, while with two on duty one might become tempter of the other.

"Then, too," one express man said yesterday, "if you need two men why not three, or four, or five or six? Where are you going to stop?"

Detectives Hurry to Altoona.

A clue which seemed promising to the Pinkerton detectives who are hunting Cunliffe turned up yesterday and last night a party of Pinkerton men went to Altoona to investigate. They were told that yesterday a stranger had rented a safe deposit box in an Altoona bank and had been seen to deposit a large sum of money in the box.

There have been many theories advanced that Cunliffe is hiding in this city, but such conjectures are discredited by the fact that the Pinkertons and the Adams Express Company are still flooding the country with circulars. Thousands were sent out yesterday from the offices of the Pinkertons and the Adams Express Company. The description of Cunliffe is being sent to every borough in the United States.

Some of Cunliffe's acquaintances say he is too shrewd to give the detectives a "tip" by writing to his family. They say Cunliffe has brothers and sisters who will not permit his family to want. He knows they will be cared for until he can arrange to get word to them.

If Cunliffe is caught it will probably be done by the Pinkertons, for the municipal detectives throughout the country will not make much of an effort to catch him after the first few weeks of searching. As a rule city detectives have too many other matters to look after without giving special attention to Cunliffe.

Supposed to Be in the Northwest.

Late last night The Gazette received the following special telegram from St. Paul:

"George E. Cunliffe, the fugitive express robber of Pittsburgh, proves to be slippery. He gave the police in Minneapolis the go-by and went to another hotel. As soon as the detectives had located him again, he disappeared once more, this time probably leaving the city. He was not arrested at the hotel where he first stopped because a more definite description of the criminal was needed. The description has arrived and there can be no doubt that the young man is really Cunliffe. Thus far all attempts to learn where he went after leaving Minneapolis, if indeed he has left, are unavailing."

CHAPLAIN MAKES RECORD

The list of the winning teams and their scores follow:

First prize, silver loving cup, donated by the Peters Cartridge Company, Eighteenth team, 635 points.
Second prize, silver mug, donated by Col. Logan, Fourteenth team, 581 points.
Third prize, leather lined cup, donated by Col. Brown, general staff team, 570 points.
Prize inspectors' match, silver cup, donated by Hardy & Hayes, Capt. George B. Shields.

Bronze Medals for Members.

In addition to the team prizes, each member of the winning teams was presented with a small bronze medal. The number given are not official and may be slightly altered in the final justification of the scores, but the ultimate results will not be affected. Because somebody was not absolutely accurate in his mathematics there was a little confusion in the awards, but the figures were soon straightened out and the prizes were awarded where they belonged.

The highest individual scores were made by Sergt. T. Magill Patterson, 188; Capt. W. O. McNary, 129; Lieut. A. L. Cratty, 129; Col. Keenan, 128; and Capt. Clyde Miller, 127. The inspectors' shoot was between Capt. Shields, Capt. Riddle of the Eighteenth and Capt. Blaine Aiken of the Tenth at 200 yards.

Gen. Wiley was the orator of the day. In presenting the trophies he stated that the shoot had done much to arouse interest in the whole body of the state guard. He prophesied that a more widespread interest in rifle practice would cause a better personnel to be secured for the militia force of the entire commonwealth.

Among the other officers the expressions of enthusiasm were even greater. The most friendly rivalry existed and all declared that other shoots would be organized on similar lines and that Col. Patterson had succeeded in giving an impetus to indoor target practice.

CAPT. TAGGART WINS SUIT

der that I make about these children is reviewable. I think the children ought not to be taken out of the jurisdiction of the court. I think they ought to remain in school in Wooster. I will vest the custody of the children in Capt. Taggart but will give the mother a liberal chance to visit them. If some satisfactory solution can be arranged I will ratify it."

There was some indefiniteness on the part of the court as to the actual disposition of the children and the court indicated that he hoped the attorneys and parents could agree upon some solution. Closing he said: "I will leave the gross neglect and two charges of infidelity stand as the ground for giving Capt. Taggart the divorce."

Judge Dason dismissed the charges as referred to Miner and Spencer. It was reported late tonight that Capt. Taggart was fearful that Mrs. Taggart would make an attempt to leave the city tonight with their two boys and that he had hired special officers to guard the premises. The boy, Culver, created a scene on the street tonight, so it is said by those who claim to have witnessed the incident. It is declared the boy said: "I won't go with you. I won't leave my mother. I don't care what the judge said."

ERIE WELCOMES CANAL BOOMERS

Presents Her Advantages As Terminal at Dinner Tendered the Party.

WILL INSPECT HARBOR TODAY

SPECIAL TELEGRAM FROM W. L. ROSS, Staff Correspondent.

ERIE, PA., Oct. 13.—How much confidence Erie has in the proposed ship canal to unite Pittsburgh with the Great Lakes was strikingly shown this evening in a dinner tendered by the board of trade and the chamber of commerce of the Gem City of the Lakes to the officers and directors of the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie Canal Company. With the speeches that came in the after dinner session, Erie's request that it be the lake terminal of the canal was formally entered. Tomorrow it will be backed up by an inspection of the city's magnificent harbor.

The dinner followed a day spent by the directors of the canal company in a railroad and carriage trip over the route of the proposed waterway. Starting from the Union station in a special car attached to the Northern express of the Pennsylvania lines, the party saw the route down the Ohio river, up the Beaver and the Mahoning as far as Mosquito creek, where the canal will leave the stream that makes Youngstown great. Then the party went to Ashtabula, where carriages were awaiting for a ride to Red Brook and Indian Creek.

The trip to Erie was made over the Lake Shore railroad, and the dinner tendered by Erie's commercial organizations was given at the Erie club. In the party from Pittsburgh are the following: John E. Shaw, president of the canal company; Burd S. Patterson, secretary; Henry Buhl, Jr., E. J. Lloyd, Emil Swensson, Col. Thomas P. Roberts, James W. Wardrop, George W. Stewart, George M. Lehman and William J. East.

Are Given a Reception.

At Youngstown the five officers of the Ohio and Pennsylvania Ship Canal joined the party. They are James H. Cassidy, president, and Charles F. Lang, P. P. Quayle, William A. Greenland and B. T. Gulling.

The party was met at the Erie station by ex-Mayor William Hardwick, H. T. Leasure and W. S. Carrol. At the club the party met the entire directorates of the two Erie commercial bodies. A reception was held in the handsome drawing room of the club. With Mayor R. J. Saltsman at the head of the long line, there were arrayed the wealth and professional skill of the city.

At the dinner the toastmaster was John S. Rilling, president of the board of trade. Toasts were responded to by Clerk Olds, president for 15 years of the board of water commissioners, who spoke on the Erie harbor. Judge E. A. Walling, on "The City of Erie" and Congressman Arthur L. Bates of this district, "Relation of the United States Government to the Ship Canal." A. B. Osborn, president of the chamber of commerce, was kept away by a death in his family. The vice president is Robert Spital, secretary, H. T. Leasure, and treasurer, Presley Himrod.

President Shaw's speech was an exhaustive treatment of the tonnage situation and the certainty of financial returns. In regard to the lake terminus of the canal, he said no decision had yet been reached and that all the considerations, interstate commerce, local benefit, economical operation, etc., are being weighed. He pointed out the benefit which the cheap waterway transportation will give Erie, regardless of the point at which the canal reaches the lakes. Quoting Commodore Perry's famous Presque Isle order he added a word to make the slogan "don't give up the ship canal."

Speeches were made also by President E. J. Lloyd and Manager J. W. Wardrop, of the Merchants & Manufacturers' association, Mayor Robert Saltman spoke on Erie's natural facilities for the ship canal. He said it is 10 times as important as the Panama canal, and claimed the federal government should build it.

Situation Summed Up.

The closing address was made by Emil Swensson, the distinguished Pittsburgh engineer, who summed up the situation from an engineering standpoint as regards an Ohio and a Pennsylvania route. He said in part:

"If Providence, in guiding the great glacier, had bent its course farther east, the Pennsylvania route would have been the better one, but its actual course was down the eastern side of Ohio, with Ashtabula as the center. There we find lower levels which give us an easier route.

"The harbor of Erie is undoubtedly the best along the lake, and we only wish it had been placed at a point where we could have utilized it without meeting the disadvantages and the necessity of building 26 miles additional which would be practically parallel to the lake."

CHARGES GET HEARING

lithic facing had been omitted, and 50 feet of grade surrounding the buildings had been only partly completed, the work being done by inmates of the house of correction, under the direction of Supt. Morgan, instead of at the expense of Henderson & Co., contractors.

Cross-examined by Mr. Shields, Mr. Powell admitted the plans in evidence did not call for sewers. He said he had heard certain changes in the specifications were ordered by the department, but claimed to have personally seen but one letter bearing upon the matter. He declared the changes to have been "radical." He also denied knowledge of the fact that the telephone companies refused to place the conduits until the building was free from dampness.

Pressed by Mr. Shields as to why he did not tell all he knew, especially as to why the specifications were changed, Mr. Powell said:

"I was ordered to report what I found, not to make inquiries as to causes."

"You had to make a report," was Shields' sharp reply, "and you did it."

Would Have Liked to Fight.

Intense hatred, mutual contempt and a willingness to settle old scores by physical effort was plainly apparent when ex-Mayor Ashbridge, in the witness box, faced Mr. Gordon. The occasion and place was all that restrained them. Gordon was the cooler of the two. Ashbridge's voice trembled with rage when he spoke, and at times he forced Gordon from the professional monotone.

The examination was limited to the contracts between the city and Henderson & Co. and the city and Architect Johnson. His signature was instantly acknowledged by the ex-mayor.

Mr. Gordon referred to the date of the architect's contract as of March 31, 1900, and of the municipal contract of March 6, 1901. Then he said:

"What authority did you have to name Johnson as architect of the hospital when the architect agreement was not entered into until three weeks later?"

"I acted on the same authority on which I appointed Joseph M. Huston and other architects to do work for the city."

"I want a more explicit answer," said Mr. Gordon.

"Well," replied Mr. Ashbridge, "I acted on the authority all other mayors used before me and which your client, Mayor Weaver, acts under still."

There were subdued cheers for the former mayor, mingled with laughter. One far back cried out: "Hurrah for Ashbridge. Weaver's no good."

Magistrate Eisenbrown indignantly called upon the police to find "that man," and added: "When you do find him throw him out."

The other witnesses were James Duffy, superintendent for Henderson & Co., who was asked by Gordon as to the signatures of his firm. Duffy refused to reply to certain questions, telling Gordon it was none of his business. The prosecution tomorrow will attempt to show that Senator James P. McNichol is interested in the firm of Henderson & Co.

THIEVES INVADE HOMEWOOD

Enter Three Houses in One Night and Make Bold Attempt to Get into Fourth.

HOLD POLICE IN CONTEMPT

Industriously plying their vocations, while the police, a little over a square and a half away were hot on their trail, two burglars who, by their adeptness in effecting entrances and their cool conduct when discovered, proved themselves old hands at the game, succeeded in gaining an entrance into three houses in the Homewood district early yesterday morning and made a partly successful attempt upon a fourth.

The first house visited was the residence of Ernest Colbaugh, 6809 McPherson street. The thieves gained an entrance by jimmying a kitchen window and searched the entire down stairs without awakening the family. They evidently took their time for they closed and locked the inside shutters and inspected the silverware, which they left, as it was too prominently marked for them to dispose of readily.

A son, William E. Colbaugh, is the only member of the family who slept with his bedroom door unlocked. In the morning when he came to dress he could not find his watch, which he had left on the dresser. As he was about to leave the room he heard it ticking and found it lying, lid open, on a wash stand across the room from the dresser. He believes the thieves refused to take the watch because of the extensive lettering on the case.

Gazes Into Revolver.

The thieves then went to the residence of H. M. Longworthy, 6821 McPherson street. There they gained an entrance by prying open the rear window with a garden spade, after having vainly attempted to force it with a jimmy. The marks of both instruments were found on the sash and sill, and the spade, which was taken from a neighbor's shed, was found lying near the window.

Mr. Longworthy is a very light sleeper and was awakened by the noise of someone moving around in the room. When his eyes became accustomed to the darkness he made out the figure of a man standing near the foot of the bed. An involuntary move on the part of Mr. Longworthy caused the intruder to turn and as he did so he covered Mr. Longworthy with a revolver, telling him to lie still and make no noise. He then slowly backed out of the room and down the stairs, where he left as he had entered. Mr. Longworthy went to the front of the house, called to a passer-by, who attracted the attention of a policeman and the three men searched the premises. Meanwhile Mrs. Longworthy had telephoned for the police and two plain clothes men responded within 15 minutes.

Investigation disclosed the fact that the revolver the thief had used was Mr. Longworthy's, he having left it in a closet downstairs, where the thief found it in his search. At first it was thought there was nothing missing, but when Mrs. Longworthy came to look in her pocketbook, which was on the dresser, she found $20 had been stolen.

Attempt to Rob Griffith's Home.

While the police, assisted by some of the neighbors, were searching for the thieves, the latter were attending to business not two squares away, having effected an entrance to the residence of W. A. Griffith, 6811 Thomas street.

Mr. Griffith is at Bemus Point, N. Y., on a fishing trip, and Mrs. Griffith, with two young daughters and two smaller children, were alone in the house. About 2:30 o'clock Mrs. Griffith was awakened by the noise of some one walking over the hardwood floors down stairs. She then heard some one cautiously mounting the stairs and at the same time saw a bar of light shine under her door. She hastily arose and the man evidently heard her movements, for the noises suddenly ceased and Mrs. Griffith ran to her daughters' room and raising the window called for help. C. B. Humphrey, who lives next door, hearing the call ran out but the men had fled. Investigation showed that they had pried open the side window of the library and, after gaining an entrance, had opened a parlor window to facilitate their escape in the event of the inmates becoming alarmed.

Police Slow in Arriving.

So far as could be learned the thieves secured no booty. They had evidently known of the absence of Mr. Griffith and knew that the family was alone. One of the daughters telephoned the police but it was nearly an hour before they arrived. No clew to the men could be found and after staying around a few minutes the police departed.

Either following their attempt on the Griffith house, or preceding that on the Colbaugh house, the thieves made desperate attempts to break into the house of D. F. Crawford, Linden avenue and Thomas street. They were evidently frightened away by the arrival of the police or by the continued efforts of the Griffith family to obtain help for they left after trying several of the windows and attempting to force the lock of the back door.

Residents of the neighborhood say the police protection is very poor, as it takes a policeman an hour to cover his beat, and it is said that there are several beats in that neighborhood which require two hours to cover. Considerable excitement prevails in the neighborhood and families left without the protection afforded by the head of the family are calling upon the young men of the neighborhood to guard them.

As usual, no report of the robbery was made at the police station and the inspector reported as usual "nothing doing" when asked as to the news of the district.

Sounds Alarm With Revolver.

Philip Scullen, an Italian of 129 Stoebner alley, East End, got into a dispute with a crowd of fellow countrymen at Brilliant station yesterday afternoon. He was knocked down by one of the crowd and retaliated by drawing a revolver and firing three shots into the air. A report that a murder had been committed was sent to No. 6 police station and a squad of policemen under Inspector Bailey hurried to the scene. Scullen was arrested.

TRIP IS VERY EXCITING.

Detective John Lally Has Strenuous Experience in Bringing Two Croatians Back from Illinois.

Detective John Lally returned from Joliet, Ill., last night with Martha Vigonvisick and Simo Kosanovick, and tells a thrilling story of his experience in bringing the prisoners here. The man is charged with the larceny of $500 and two bank books, and the couple is said to have eloped from the boarding house of the woman's husband at No. 2344 Carson street.

When Lally left here for Joliet the prisoners had agreed to waive requisition papers, but changed their minds while he was en route. Before their attorney could appear in court Lally secured the prisoners. The woman nearly bit off the thumb of a Joliet policeman while being placed in the patrol wagon there, while a crowd of Croatians surrounded the wagon, and, stoning and clubbing Lally, attempted to rescue the prisoners. While the prisoners were put aboard a train for Chicago several revengeful Croatians tried to board the train, but were thrown off by force.

In Chicago the prisoners were taken to the Harrison street police station and several hours later 30 Croatians, who had come on from Joliet, appeared in the police station and demanded the prisoners. They were then removed to Central headquarters and later taken to a suburban station house. Finally Lally got his prisoners to Montpelier, O., where he was compelled to keep them in the passenger station from 4 o'clock Thursday afternoon until 7 o'clock yesterday morning.

Saturday, October 14, 1905.

The Republican mass meeting in Old City hall tonight promises to be as interesting as it will be enthusiastic. County Commissioner James Evans will embrace the occasion to tell a few plain truths about that amusing disorganization, the Citizens party, and its promises of reform that were never fulfilled. Mr. Evans will not mince matters in his public repudiation of the Bigelow bunko game and will signify his indorsementt of the Republican county ticket by acting as vice president of the meeting. The other gentlemen scheduled for speeches will also handle the political situation without mitts. A rousing old-fashioned Republican meeting is assured, in strong contrast to the gloomy gathering in the same place a week ago tonight.

The tragic death of Henry Irving will bring sadness to many circles of society. A conscientious exponent of art for art's sake, the great actor endeared himself to the theater-going public of two continents. His genius was as unquestioned as his character and he labored unceasingly for the uplifting of his profession. Leaders of the world's thought were proud to be numbered among his personal friends. A kindly gentleman has passed to his reward.

The Gazette has had occasion before to reprehend the common practice of carrying concealed weapons and to commend the movement to punish offenders. Much of the stigma which rests upon this country because of its many homicides is referable to this very custom. Two more persons found carrying revolvers were fined yesterday by a Pittsburgh police magistrate. This is the only way to break up the practice: make it too expensive.

The measure of Premier Fejervary, providing for the separation of the customs duties of Austria and Hungary, is the latest manifestation of widening relations between the allied nations. Fejervary, formerly one of Hungary's most famous generals, has always been intensely jealous of his country's independence, and while not allied with the hot-headed agitators who oppose everything Austrian, has ever emphasized the principle of Hungarian sovereignty.

If the Paris Matin keeps on, it will acquire as bad a reputation as the Pittsburgh Leader for printing what is not true. The Matin recently published a yarn about Great Britain having promised military and naval support to France in case of war between the latter and Germany over the Moroccan question, which has stirred up Europe. The story gained such circulation that England has had to send a formal denial to Germany. Berlin has long been the premier rumor factory for Europe, but Paris is now proving a strong rival in that respect.

That the patience of the French government has become exhausted by President Castro's continued policy of insolence is not surprising. Non-recognition of the French representative at Caracas is sufficient ground for irritation, to say nothing of the refusal to make reparation for the serious embarrassment caused the French Cable Company. Castro cannot hope to continue much longer in his favorite role of the bad boy without incurring the painful punishment which is meet in such cases and which has been long impending. Venezuela is insignificant, but, like the pebble in one's shoe, can occasion an amount of annoyance entirely out of proportion to its size.

The proposed changes in football rules, in order to eliminate brutality and modify the element of danger, will accomplish little without a reformation on the part of the occasional player whose tactics are best described in vigorous college parlance as "dirty work." The actions of one shifty player may bring an entire team into disrepute. The mass play and other dangerous features of the game cause a large proportion of the injuries, but not all "knock-outs" on the gridiron are purely accidental. President Roosevelt has himself expressed the opinion that "heartiest and most plainly shown contempt should be accorded the player guilty of intentionally injuring another, especially if this brutality be coupled with a low cunning in committing it without being caught by the umpire."

Boys to Be Envied.

Next Monday the day School of Applied Science, one of the group of Carnegie Technical schools, will open for instruction, and yesterday announcement was made of the 120 fortunate youths who will compose the first class to enter the institution. The wide field of usefulness which these schools will occupy, and the extent to which the advantages they afford are appreciated, are evidenced by the applications of 1,723 ambitious students. The care with which the students are chosen is shown by the rejection of 1,119 on the ground of insufficient preparation and on account of other considerations. While but 120 will enter at first, others who have qualified will be admitted as soon as sufficient accommodations are provided.

In view of the recent statement of a Chicago educator that the day of the self-made man is over, it is interesting to note that one-third of the students composing the first class of the School of Applied Science are absolutely self-supporting. These will find it necessary to work at night to earn the money for their education. They are the kind of fellows who generally give a good account of themselves in the classroom. While graduates from schools in all parts of the country are flocking hither, many of the students were prepared at the Pittsburgh and Allegheny high schools, and it is safe to say, as proved by their passing the rigid entrance examinations, that they were thoroughly grounded in the necessary subjects. A valuable feature of the Carnegie Technical schools will be the individual instruction which the pupils will receive. Not more than 24 pupils will engage the attention of one instructor. The night schools will open before long, as soon as the equipment is in place, affording a welcome opportunity to enterprising boys who are at work during the day. The youths who have gained admission to this great institution are to be congratulated. They have taken an important step toward success in life.

Americans as Victims.

Now that most of the American army which annually invades Europe has returned to its native land, as light in heart, it is to be hoped, as in pocketbook, it is a fit time to consider the utterance of a Paris police official that "were it not for the Yankees, most of the pickpockets and sharpers now making a living in this city would have to seek other fields." This is not very gratifying to the pride of a nation which has always plumed itself on its "smartness." The ease with which foreigners discover the nationality of Americans, without an apparent suggestion on the part of the latter, has long been matter of comment. There is no such type as a distinctively American face. More centuries than the white man has lived on the North American continent are required for the evolution of a true American type. In our veins flows the blood of all Europe. It is reasonable to suppose, therefore, that the Parisian sharper picks out his prey from some peculiarities of manner and speech, possibly his habit of carrying his money loose in his trousers pocket and his nasal twang, or his unique mangling of the French language acquired in 10 easy lessons at home. However he selects his victims, certain it is the bunko man abroad prefers to do business with Americans.

The best explanation, probably, is that Americans carry more money with them than other people and are not so afraid of spending it. The average English tourist regards each coin as a work of art which he wishes to retain in his collection, and his money is carefully concealed somewhere in the inner recesses of his clothing. Not so the careless American. In his hip-pocket reposes a fat wallet, and the light-fingered gentry have only to step up and help themselves. The American in Europe pays twice as much for articles as they are worth and never minds the change. The Englishman will camp out all day in a small shop and hurl unintelligible French at the proprietor until the latter finally throws off 6 cents on the price. Americans are robbed of more money in Europe because they have more money to be robbed of. Their trips cost more than those of other people, but there is more fun in them. The foreigner who can flim-flam an American on the latter's native soil is welcome to all he can get. But we expect to be robbed when we go abroad, and charge it all up to expenses.

The Church in Amusements.

The question of the propriety of certain popular amusements crops up periodically in most of the churches. Especially in the fall and winter do we hear sermons of advice on the subjects of cards, and dancing and the theater, delivered by clergymen of those denominations which have adopted rigid rules, or rules intended to be rigid, for the guidance of their members. When restrictions proving irksome, members fail to observe them in the letter, it is rare that church authorities take official cognizance of the lapses from obedience. A striking illustration of effective interference by the church is afforded by the Free Methodists of Topeka, Kansas, who, regarding horse racing as an evil amusement, prayed for rain to spoil the state fair. The rains descended, as requested, and the fair, so far as horse racing was concerned, proved a damp and dreary fizzle.

In strong contrast to this fun-spoiling policy of the Kansas Free Methodists, is the attitude of the bishop of Manchester, England, who, finding that many of the members of his diocese persist in playing golf on Sunday, instead of attending church, has decided that the church must go to the people, and will hold services either on the golf links or in their immediate vicinity, for the benefit of the players. A scoffer suggests that if it is the plan to sing a short hymn after each "drive," in the event of a "foozle" the hymn be sung with extraordinary vigor in order to drown the expected comment of the disappointed player. The bishop's idea is a good one, immeasurably better than the dog-in-the-manger plan of praying for rain to spoil the other fellow's fun.

The Business Situation.

Present and prospective conditions in the money market received much attention this week, but the discussion was absolutely free from the apprehension experienced on former occasions when the rate for loans rose above the normal. The situation is somewhat peculiar. We have harvested the largest crops in our history, and the statistical position of the grain trade is such as to indicate that the crops will move rapidly from primary markets to points of distribution and consumption. We are also engaged in producing the largest tonnage of iron and steel ever recorded, and the industries related thereto are correspondingly active. Necessarily, there is a greater volume of business in those branches of trade which are dependent upon agricultural and industrial prosperity. Because of the evidence of prosperity and the confidence pervading financial and commercial circles, the stock market throughout the summer and early fall has been fairly active and strong, and prices have reached the highest average ever quoted.

Under these conditions activity in the money market was inevitable, and because of the general confidence manifested, the custodians of banking credit have felt warranted in meeting the many demands more freely than they would do if conditions were less ideal. The effect has been a drain upon the New York banks, the chief reservoir of the surplus funds of the country. Within less than two months these banks have been compelled to call in not less than $87,000,000, which was loaned principally to stock market operators. The bulk of the funds thus called has been shipped to the west and south for use in what is called legitimate business, as distinguished from what is classed as speculation. Notwithstanding this reduction in loans, New York surplus reserves have declined to the smallest total for any corresponding period since 1902. Borrowers who were called upon to pay off their loans in one bank have been compelled to bid a higher rate for accommodation elsewhere, and this competition for the use of credits by merchants, manufacturers and shippers on the one hand, and by stock market operators on the other, has brought about the higher rates quoted during the past few weeks. There is nothing alarming in this situation. It is altogether different from the high rates which are sometimes quoted because of a lack of confidence, when the lender demands more for the supposed greater risk he takes.

The available supply of banking credit is limited. Just now every dollar in this country is working full time. Ordinarily the present condition of domestic money markets would attract ample foreign credits. There have been some importations of gold, but the commercial and industrial improvement which is also making itself felt abroad, together with the fact that Russia will probably become a large borrower, has influenced foreign money-lenders to raise their rates and to place such obstacles as they have at their command in the way of a flow of gold to the United States. The loans of the Bank of England are $30,000,000 larger today than at this time last year, while its holdings of gold are $30,000,000 smaller. The Bank of France, which will take a leading part in floating any Russian loans that may be offered, has $62,000,000 more gold than it held a year ago, but its loans are also larger and its managers are evidently disposed to maintain a strong position.

The outlook favors a continuation of a relatively firm and active money market for the ensuing six or eight weeks. During this period stock market operators will do well if they content themselves with a moderate degree of speculative activity. The business situation is absolutely sound, but in supplying its requirements the money market cannot also meet the demands of rampant speculation in Wall street.

If the war lord would give a little less attention to rumors of England's hostility, and a little more to the actual hostility which is killing off his soldiers in Southwest Africa, it might prove advantageous.

It is now charged that Democratic orators in Ohio are delivering speeches prepared for them by a bureau. The job of political parrot requires the minimum of intellectual exertion.

A Chicago church has had a "Standing Room Only" sign painted and hangs it out every Sunday night. People who go to church in Chicago must have to stand a good deal.

Democratic enthusiasm in this neck of the woods seems to be suffering from a severe chill.

QUIET OBSERVATIONS ON WAYS OF WORLD

Our Conduct and Tastes Depend on the Way We Were Brought Up.

By ERASMUS WILSON.

Take heed unto thyself; the mighty God
That is the Soul of Nature, sees the good
And bad that man in his most secret heart
Thinks by himself, and brings it to the light.

—Empress of Japan.

You may not have suspected the high and mighty, the empress of Japan, of writing poetry, but it appears to be a fact that she has written enough to fill a good sized book. The best of her poems are being translated into English.

If the above lines are a fair specimen of her work the book will be worth having. Even this one stanza is well worth remembering, for in it is more truth than is contained in some entire books bearing on the same subject.

But this is the Japanese way. They first determine precisely what they want to say, and then they say it in as few words as possible.

Unfortunately there is no humor in Japanese nature, and very little enthusiasm. Shouting, cheering, applauding are almost unknown in Japan, while they rarely laugh except in derision. This, however, is common to nearly all Asiatic people.

Laughter, as an expression of pleasure and delight, is quite modern, being much younger than the Christian religion. As you know, in the times of Jesus laughter was used to express contempt, derision or hearty disapproval.

In China instead of hissing an actor they laugh and clap their hands.

A gentleman who has traveled much in the orient says the absence of enthusiasm is most noticeable everywhere. In fact, it is rarely heard except when there is a riot, a fire or something dreadful.

He relates an instance when some Americans gave vent to their enthusiasm, nearly disgracing themselves in the eyes of Japanese royalty.

It was at one of their national fetes, the particular occasion being a wrestling match in which a famous champion offered to meet and defeat all comers. Royalty was there, and so was the high caste element.

The man chosen by the city to meet this great and terrible wrestler was a young man built from the ground up, apparently all muscle and nerve, but quiet, demure and inoffensive. It looked like an uneven match, but appearances don't count for much over there.

When the contestants stepped onto the raised platform in the middle of the court amphitheater there wasn't a cheer, nor a sign of greeting, welcome or otherwise.

Naturally the sympathies of the Americans present were all, or mostly, with the little fellow, although they expected to see him go sailing over the ropes on the hard pavement.

The big fellow was terrible to look upon. His huge bronzed body was marked with many whitish scars showing that he had fought many battles in the arena. The little fellow showed but few scratches, but he had the alertness and the quickness of a tiger.

At the word they clinched, or rather skirmished for holds. The great audience sat quietly with hardly an indication of excitement.

Scarcely had the wrestlers clinched when the little fellow rushed the big one to the ropes and threw him into the arena. Not a cheer, not a sign of applause. This was too much for the young Americans who waved their hats and cheered. The people looked at them and said, "drunk."

American music has no charms for the yellow people on the other side of the earth.

A case in point. During the Grand Army parade when the national encampment was held here, the Altoona band was passing along Federal street, Allegheny, playing its very best, which was as good as the best. A chinaman, one of the more intelligent sort, was asked what he thought of the music.

"Melican musle belly bad; China music belly good," he replied, and with that went into his cellar abode, took down a long-necked, one-string affair that looked more like a cross-bone than a musical instrument, and began twanging it as though he really thought it "belly good."

American and European musicians find no favor in any Asiatic country.

However, music hath charms for our people, charms that have caused them to forget that they were enemies for the time. This is beautifully set forth in Ben. F. Taylor's famous war poem, "Chickamauga."

A camp of blue, a camp of gray,
A peaceful river rolled between,
Were pitched two rifle shots away,
Then sun had set the west aglow,
The evening clouds were crimson snow,
The twinkling camp-fires faintly seen
Across the darkening river.

There floated from the federal band
The "Spangled Banner's" strain,
The grays struck up their "Dixie Land,"
And "Rally Round" and "Bonny Blue."
Ah, no such fights shall cross again
The Rappahannock river.

And then, above the glancing "beam
Of song" a bugle warbled low,
Like some bird started in a dream,
"Home, Home, Sweet Home," and voices rang,
And gray and blue together sang—
And other songs were like the snow
Among the pines when winds are stilled
And hearts and voices throbbed and thrilled,
With "Home, Sweet Home" forever.
Benjamin F. Taylor.

THUGS ROB A WOMAN OF FIVE DOLLARS

Police Declare the East Side Is Being Flooded With Toughs for Election Purposes.

By FRANK A. PARKER.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 13.—The man who was caught robbing a meat market in East Houston street early this morning, was accused soon after his arrest by a woman of holding her up and, with the assistance of his companion, beating her and robbing her of $5. The woman's face and head were badly cut, and her condition was so serious that when she went to the Fifth street station she was taken to Gouverneur hospital. The police declare the prisoner and his companion, who made good his escape, are members of a gang of thugs with which the East Side is now being flooded for election purposes. These men, the police say, have registered falsely in the various lower East Side districts, principally in the Eighth. They consider, the police say, that because of their ability to vote several times, and to make a fight if any one objects to their ubiquity, they are entitled to do as they please with the lives and property of East Siders who are not identified with their friends and backers. The police attribute several holdups and burglaries on the East Side of late to their activity because they must do something to make a living until they get their pay at so much per vote on election day.

Feast of Tabernacles Begins.

All of this week, although unseen by most New Yorkers, a large proportion of the city's population has been preparing for a series of most unusual ceremonies. The lower East Side and some parts of Harlem and the Bronx have taken on a peculiar aspect. As one walks the street one observes wagon-load after wagonload of evergreen, sold by hucksters to patriarchal Hebrews, and removed by them and members of their families to their back yards. The feast of Tabernacles, or Succoth, one of the great festivals ordained in the Bible began tonight at sunset and lasts seven days.

Rosy Tints at Hearst Headquarters.

Max F. Ihmsen, field marshal and general manager of the Municipal Ownership league and the Hearst campaign, engaged rooms in the Hoffman house today for campaign headquarters, to be opened tomorrow. Petitions for nomination of W. R. Hearst for mayor, John Ford for comptroller and J. C. Phelps Stokes for president of the board of aldermen will be circulated tomorrow, and the campaign managers of the organization expect to get enough signatures in one day to make the nominations legal. They require 2,000 signatures for each candidate. The Hearst campaign managers are claiming today that Hearst will poll not fewer than 150,000 votes. Some of them go so far as to say that he will be elected.

Regular Famine in Good Plays.

Miss Olga Nethersole, who has just arrived from Europe, has also noted the want of playable plays for playgoers to see. She doesn't even know whether she has a success or not in "The Labyrinth." "I should have been back to America long ago if I had only some new material to offer, but only the stars and the managers who are searching for them equally hard have any conception of the dearth of good plays at the present moment. It isn't a dearth," laughed Miss Nethersole, "it's a famine, and if it keeps up we shall all have to fall back on repertoire."

Speech Is Certainly Golden.

In a special report to Controller Grout, presented to the board of estimate today, Engineer Harry P. Nichol estimates the value of a telephone franchise at $7,750,000 for 25 years. Mr. Nichol recommends a cash payment of $750,000 upon the acceptance of the grant or the signing of a contract; five per cent of the gross receipts for the first five years, but not less than $250,000; six per cent during the second five years, but not less than $300,000; seven per cent for the third five years, but not less than $200,000; nine per cent for the fourth five years, but not less than $450,000; ten per cent for the fifth five years, but not less than $400,000.

New Consumptive Hospital Planned.

Plans for a $2,000,000 sanitarium for consumptives, to comprise a group of magnificent buildings on one of the highest parts of Staten island, have been submitted to Mayor McClellan. The central structure will be the administration building. There is to be a nurses home, a power house, and laundry buildings, and ambulance house; a chapel and general dining hall building. Generous provision is planned for pavilions, sun parlors and roof gardens. There is to be room for 500 beds.

Where Curb Men Lose Money.

It is figured that the curb brokers stand to lose in the neighborhood of $75,000 this year in the way of commissions on election bets, on account of the generally conceded "walkover" of the Democratic mayoralty candidate. In each of the two preceding years fully $1,500,000 changed hands on the election, on which the commissions averaged 5 per cent.

Must Be Something In a Name.

For the third time in its short career the new musical play by Victor Herbert and Glen MacDonough has been changed. When it was originally produced in Chicago, five or six weeks ago, it was called "Alice and the Eight Princesses." Alice was then stricken out and "the eight princesses" went it alone for a time. Next Wednesday night, when the play will be produced at the Majestic, it will be called "Wonderland."

Interesting Happenings Concerning the People Who Are Travelling.

The hotel proprietors of Pennsylvania are looking forward with much interest to the first annual meeting of the Pennsylvania State Hotel association at New Bingham house, Philadelphia, next Monday and Tuesday. This association was organized with 20 members on September 27, 1904, and the fact that it has now more than 350 active members evidences the spirit of the hotel men for associating their interests in this way. E. E. Bonneville, proprietor of the Hotel Henry, president of the association, will leave Sunday for Philadelphia, and a number of the other Pittsburgh hotel men will leave Sunday night. Mr. Bonneville said last night:

"There will be a general discussion of methods of hotel keeping and of things concerning hotels, but so far as I know there will be no radical measures presented. We expect at least 150 of the members at the convention from all over the state. After the convention days of Monday and Tuesday, we shall have the courtesy of a special train from the Pennsylvania railroad for a trip to Atlantic City, where we are to be entertained for the day by the Atlantic City Hotel Men's association, of which S. S. Phoebus is president."

The regular monthly meeting—the first session since the summer recess—was held by the Pittsburgh Hotel and Restaurant association at the Hotel Newell last night. Routine business was transacted. The hotel men are united in saying that the Pittsburgh and state associations have been of untold benefit in improving hotel keeping in the past year. The protection from "deadbeats" as well as from undesirable employes has been especially good.

The annual inspection of the South Penn, Carter, Ohio, the New Domain Oil and Gas companies, the Hope and Mountain State Natural Gas companies, and the National Transit, Southwest, Eureka, Buckeye and Cumberland pipe lines started from Bradford yesterday morning. The Bradford and Butler fields will be examined under the direction of J. C. McKinney, general manager. The party will visit the large electric plant of the South Penn Oil Company at Robinson, W. Va., and also the Hope Natural Gas Company's plant at Heatlings, W. Va. From there they will go through the Sistersville and Parkersburg fields, and visit other parts of the field in that neighborhood, and from there, into the Kentucky and Tennessee fields, with the possibility of coming back by the way of the oil and gas fields in Ohio and Indiana. The parties who make the inspection are the officers and working forces of the different companies, assisted by the local parties in the fields as they make examination at the time. The party will pass through Pittsburgh this evening.

MOUNTAINS IN FALL TIME.

It is fall time in the mountains
And the winds are sinning low,
While the verdure, green in summer,
Turns to red and yellow glow.
Leaves are falling from the aspen,
And the pine cones tumble down!
Creeping ivy, once so hasty,
Now is scared and turned brown.

Faded flowers droop and wither
In the shadow of the pine
And the cricket—he is dying
At the hoar frost's greedy shrine.
Needle pointed verdure flutters
From the pines to the earth.
There to lie until it mingles
With the dust that gave it birth.

Music throated birds have vanished
From the canons and the crest,
Where they sang through all the summer—
Where they built their breeding nest.
Merry laughing streams that gambol
Over rocky pebbled bed
Seem to join the winds in singing
Farewell requiems for the dead.

If it fall time in the mountains,
When the red and yellow hue
Harmonize in perfect colors
With the skies of azure blue,
No human hand e'er painted—
No picture has been found—
That can touch the grand old mountains
When the leaves are on the ground.

JAMES EVANS AT TOWN MEETING

Repudiates Citizens Party and Will Be Vice President at Republican Rally.

BIGELOW PRODUCES CANARD

County Commissioner James Evans will publicly signify his withdrawal from the Citizens party and his disgust with its sham reform by acting tonight as the vice president of the big Republican town meeting to be held in Old City hall. Mr Evans was one of the candidates elected to a county office on the Citizens' ticket three years ago when that party was supposed to be a reform organization. He was one of many others who discovered their error and by his presence tonight on the Republican platform he will declare his thorough repudiation of the whole Bigelow-Verner-Hays-Wyman aggregation.

The meeting in Old City hall tonight will be a rouser. It will be presided over by William T. Bradberry, a prominent citizen of Allegheny, and red-hot speeches will be made by James Francis Burke, Charles B. Price, I. K. Campbell, Perry A. Shanor and others.

The various independent organizations, who are all supporting the Republican county ticket, will have a conference this afternoon at 1:30 o'clock at the Monongahela House, to formulate effective plans of campaign. The four parties—the Orphans, the Municipal Leaguers, the stalwart Democrats and the Lincoln party, have each appointed a committee to attend the conference. The committees were named yesterday and are as follows:

Independents Meet Today.

Orphans—W. H. Stevenson, W. C. Reitz, George W. McNeil. Municipal league—W. K. Jennings, Oliver McClintock (one name to be supplied.) Democrats—W. S. Guffey, George H. Stengel, Joseph McClure. Lincoln party—H. S. Paul, H. F. Davis, T. M. Walker.

W. H. Stevenson yesterday punctured a campaign canard manufactured by Director Bigelow concerning the Orphans and their relations with the Republicans in the present contest. "The Orphans have made a deal with the Republicans whereby the Republicans are to nominate for mayor next year one of four men who have been suggested by the Orphans," said Director Bigelow. "These four men are W. H. Stevenson, W. K. Jennings, John Eaton and T. J. Gillespie."

"Director Bigelow's statement is absolutely untrue," said Mr. Stevenson. "The list which Mr. Bigelow gives is three years old. Three years ago when the Citizens refused to nominate an independent candidate for mayor and nominated first Harry Meyers, then pulled Moore down and nominated W. B. Hays, the Municipal league held a meeting and suggested the names of a number of men for mayor to the Republican leaders.

Bigelow Uses Fake List.

"The four names that Director Bigelow mentions were on the list, also the name of Dr. Cadwallader Evans. Dr. Evans withdrew and Major A. P. Burchfield was suggested. Mr. Burchfield had the support of the independent element, but he could not run because of his ill-health and Mr. Haymaker was nominated. That is where Bigelow gets his fake list. Such a list has not been prepared nor have any names been mentioned by the Orphans for mayor. I know that I am not a candidate myself."

The fake story of a deal with the Orphans was not the only joke that Director Bigelow gave voice to yesterday. After conducting the matinee hearings of the city payroll at the public safety building he declared: "We will have 15,000 majority in the city in November."

"What will that give you in the county?" was the innocent inquiry of a reporter.

"Never mind. We will have enough," said the director.

"Director, some of your city employes say they are being compelled to give up a part of their salaries to the district and ward organizations to conduct the campaign."

"No employe is asked to pay a cent," was the director's reply, with a perfectly straight face.

"Where are you going to get the money to roll up this 15,000 majority in the city, then, if you are not assessing the payroll?"

"We don't need any money. We have the people with us and we will win without money." When the director gave vent to this he thought the joke so good that he laughed as hard as his interviewers.

A day does not pass that F. X. Barr does not receive a notice that some member he has appointed on the fusion committee on meetings and speakers has refused to serve. Among those to decline yesterday were former Judge S. S. Mehard and P. H. McGuire. Mr. McGuire is addressing Republican meetings. Twenty members of the committee so far have declined to serve.

BELGIAN FIRE BOSS IS KILLED BY YOUTH

Edward Cook, Aged 13, Sends Load of Shot Into Joseph Zeivers With Fatal Effect.

Joseph Zeivers, aged 35, a fire boss at the Laurel Hill mine No. 2 of the Pittsburgh Coal Company near Reissing, this county, was shot by Edward Cook, a 13-year-old boy, yesterday afternoon and died a half hour later. Young Cook was arrested and placed in the lockup at McDonald and was brought to the Allegheny county jail soon after midnight. The tragedy was the result, it is said, of the failure of Zeivers, who was a Belgian, and knew but little English, to understand that he was being ordered off the Cook farm.

Zeivers, it is stated, had been making a rabbit pen in the rear of his home, which is on the edge of the Cook farm. He needed another board and was crossing a corner of the farm in search of one at 3:30 yesterday afternoon, when young Cook appeared with a shot gun in his hands. Notices forbidding trespassing had been posted about the farm, the latter having called annoyance.

The boy shouted to Zeivers to get off the grounds. Zeivers not knowing what was being said to him, approached Cook, who raised the gun to his shoulder and fired. Zeivers fell, with the whole charge of buckshot in his face and breast. His wife, who witnessed the shooting fainted. Neighbors, who heard the shot, ran to the place and carried the wounded man into his house, where he died a half hour later.

Chief of Police Patrick Smith of McDonald went to Reissing, which is two miles away, and arrested young Cook. Deputy Coroner Humphries went to the scene of the shooting tonight, and will go out again in the morning to make a further investigation. Mrs. Zeivers is prostrated over the tragic death of her husband, and last night her condition was reported as critical. It is stated by friends of young Cook that he supposed Zeivers was approaching him with the intention of assaulting him, and that he believed his life was in danger.

MOORE'S SPEECH TO POLICE FORCE

"Do Anything and Everything to Win and We'll Back You," the Director Says.

WAR VETERANS HOLD ROUSER

"Do all you can and everything you can to win, and we will back you."

This is what Director Moore told his police employes yesterday at the regular payroll mathee in the public safety building. The director plainly authorized the police force to "go the limit" to produce votes for the Citizens ticket, insuring them immunity from the consequences whatever they might be. His remarks would have done justice to Superintendent "Buck" Wallace.

As at other payroll meetings which have been held this week, Director Moore was the second speaker. He was preceded by Director Bigelow, who said, when he finished his address: "Now, Mr. Moore," and Mr. Moore got up to say his piece, which was considered the gem of the lot.

"I see some policemen here. I want to talk to them," he said. "I want every one of you to get out and hustle from now until after election day. We have got to carry the city and expect every man to do his best. Do all you can and everything you can to win, and we will back you. I have talked to some of the oldest men on the police force, who have been here for many years, and they tell me that we have given the best administration in this department the city has ever had. I expect every man to get out and hustle for votes day and night."

Three Years More for Bigelow.

In opening the meeting Director Bigelow got up and said: "All I have got to say to you is to get out and hustle. I do not expect you to get one vote, two votes, three votes or half a dozen votes. I expect you to get all the votes you can. Never stop. We must carry the city to win and if we win it means three more years for us and three more years for you."

Director Clark was the last speaker. "As secretary of the county committee I want to report to you that everything is in fine shape."

These three speeches were delivered to about 1,000 or more men in the course of the afternoon. The payroll from 16 wards, from the Nineteenth to the Thirty-fifth inclusive, got the same dose. Although the room where the payroll was assembled is several times the size of an average office the payroll from only three or four wards could be accommodated at a time, and the three directors were kept busy repeating their set speeches. Only four wards, from the Thirty-sixth to the Thirty-ninth inclusive, remain to get their lessons and these wards will be disposed of this afternoon.

Big Meeting of War Veterans.

The Allegheny War Veterans' association held a rousing meeting last night at headquarters in North Diamond street, Allegheny. Fully 100 veterans were unable to gain admittance to the audience which was addressed by William T. Bradberry, chairman of the meeting; Congressman W. H. Graham, Charles A. Muehlbronner, John A. Fairman, I. K. Campbell, County Chairman Thomas J. Ford, Maj. A. B. Hay, Jury Commissioner Harvey and John Moreland. Every speech was vigorously applauded, particularly those delivered by County Chairman Ford and the two soldier candidates on the Republican ticket, Mr. Fairman and Mr. Campbell.

Mr. Ford made a striking comparison of the methods of the two parties in nominating their candidates, the selection of the Republican candidates at open primaries, where every candidate had an equal chance to win, and the picking of the Citizens-Democratic candidates by 10 men, 5 of the Citizens party and 5 of the Democratic party. "They attack the primaries in Pittsburgh, but suppose you throw out the Pittsburgh primaries and wipe Pittsburgh off the map and Mr. Fairman and Mr. Campbell here are still the nominees of the party," he said.

Threw Them Out of Office.

Maj. Hay said that the old soldier was morally bound to support the Republican ticket. He said he had been offered a nomination on the Citizens ticket this fall and that many other old soldiers had been approached in the same manner, but had declined any nomination at the hands of the Citizens party. He referred to the fact that the present Citizens city and county administration had thrown 58 old soldiers out of office, and that when a petition, signed by over 900 old soldiers recommending one of their number for an appointment, was presented to Mayor Hays the petition was not even acknowledged by the mayor.

A resolution was adopted that the members of the association should meet tonight at the headquarters at 7:30 o'clock to march in a body to the Republican meeting at Old City hall.

SHERIFF DICKSON ILL.

Condition Which Was Critical Is Now Much Relieved.

That Sheriff James W. Dickson was critically ill for many hours between last Sunday and Monday nights, was only made known yesterday, the facts being withheld to save his friends from alarm.

While Mr. and Mrs. Dickson were visiting at the home of Barton Grubbs, in Allegheny, Sunday night, the sheriff was seized with a violent coughing spell, which resulted in his bursting a large blood vessel in his stomach. He lost much blood and several physicians were called. From Monday until Tuesday morning salt water was injected into his system at intervals of 20 minutes to sustain him because of the loss of blood. He rallied surprisingly well, and it is expected that he will be able to return to his office for duty the latter part of next week.

PITTSBURGH POSTAL RECEIPTS INCREASED

WASHINGTON, Oct. 13.—(Special.)—The statement of gross postal receipts at 50 of the largest postoffices in the country shows that the receipts at the Pittsburgh office during September were $141,898, an increase over the same month of the previous year of nearly 10 per cent. The largest increase was shown at the Brooklyn office where it was over 28 per cent.

MANY OUTBREAKS OCCUR IN RUSSIA

Chief of Police Is Assassinated Because of the Jewish Massacres.

MUCH AMMUNITION SEIZED

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

KISHINEFF, RUSSIA, Oct. 13.—M. Ossovsky, the assistant chief of police here, was assassinated today. He was held to have been largely responsible for the massacre of Jews in 1903 and the more recent anti-Jewish disturbances.

LOMZA, RUSSIAN POLAND, Oct. 13.—Several wagon loads of rifle ammunition in charge of Jewish teamsters were captured here today. They were on their way to Warsaw and the ammunition is thought to be a portion of a supply imported by a bund for use in an uprising.

REVAL, RUSSIA, Oct. 13.—An outbreak occurred today among the prisoners in a provincial jail and the guards were forced to fire two volleys from revolvers to quell the uprising. One prisoner was mortally wounded. There are several political prisoners in the jail.

MITAU, RUSSIA, Oct. 13.—On account of the recent destruction by revolutionaries of a railroad in this district and the failure of the local authorities to prevent it, the governor general has imposed fines of $1,500 on two communities. The fines will be remitted in case the inhabitants surrender the guilty persons.

ODESSA, Oct. 13.—A mass meeting of students held here today decided by 778 to 592 votes against reopening the Odessa university until the state of siege is raised and that it will then be reopened exclusively for a political struggle until full civil rights be granted to all Russians.

CANEA, ISLAND OF CRETE, Oct. 13.—Russian soldiers, gendarmes and civil guards yesterday occupied the village of Armyo, in the Italian zone, and a fight with the insurgents ensued which lasted until tonight. The details have been censored, but local papers report that five of the insurgents were killed and eight wounded and that the Russian troops suffered no casualties.

ST. PETERSBURG, Oct. 13.—The government has decided to lend the Baku oil men the money necessary to repair the damages caused during the recent rioting there, but has declined their request that the loans be without interest. The sum necessary is estimated at $15,000,000 to $20,000,000 on which 5 per cent interest will be charged. M. Kokovsoff, minister of finance, has sent an urgent telegram to the viceroy of the Caucasus urging immediate compliance with the oil men's request that the troops in the pumping districts be strengthened.

TO AID THE TEACHERS.

Pedagogical Section Will Try to Make Easy the Road to Class B.

The classification of teachers in the Pittsburgh public schools has led the pedagogical section of the Academy of Science and Art to lay out its work for this winter with the special end of helping teachers who expect to be examined for class B next spring. The first meeting of the section for this season will be held on Tuesday evening in the Fifth Avenue High school building. The council will present the plan for the winter's work and has announced that it will be on lines that will be of value to the teacher who is seeking improvement.

The papers for Tuesday evening are: "The Value of the History of Education to the Teacher," "The Value of Method to the Teacher," "The Value of Psychology to the Teacher." Each will be limited to 10 minutes, to give time for ample discussion.

WILL DEDICATE FIFTH CHURCH

Second Presbyterian Congregation to Consecrate Its Newest Edifice Tomorrow.

OTHER RELIGIOUS EVENTS

The fifth church occupied by the congregation of the Second Presbyterian church will be dedicated tomorrow morning with special services and an appropriate sermon by the pastor, the Rev. Dr. S. Edward Young. Former Pastors William McKibben, D. D., now president of Lane Theological seminary at Cincinnati, and John R. Sutherland, D. D., of Burlington, Ia., will assist in the service and will also speak at 4 o'clock in the afternoon following a communion service.

The congregation was organized 102 years ago and first worshipped in the dwelling of James Morrison on Smithfield street, between Second and Third avenues. Later the German church, Smithfield street and Sixth avenue, was used, after which the congregation occupied its own building in Diamond alley. Later a brick structure was built on the same street which was vacated to enter a more modern church on Fifth avenue. In 1868 the former church at Penn avenue and Seventh street was completed and occupied.

The new McKinley Park Presbyterian church will be dedicated tomorrow with special services morning, afternoon and evening. The Rev. Dr. E. P. Cowan will deliver the dedicatory sermon in the morning. In the afternoon a congratulatory service will be held, when addresses will be delivered by the Revs. C. S. McClelland, D. D., J. W. Harsha, A. H. Jolly, D. D., E. J. Brown, P. W. Snyder and William A. Jones. In the evening E. D. Betz, Willis A. Booth, G. H. Schmunk, Evan Jones and William C. Lilley will speak. Special music will be provided at all services.

New Faces in Methodist Churches.

Several Methodist Episcopal congregations in this vicinity will greet new faces in their pulpits tomorrow as the result of the conference just closed in Beaver. The Rev. Dr. C. W. Blodgett of Cincinnati will occupy the pulpit of North Avenue church, Allegheny, for the first time; the Rev. Dr. A. D. Mink will preach in the Aspinwall church; the Rev. Dr. B. F. Beazell will preach in North End church, Allegheny; the Rev. R. B. Cuthbert will address the Coraopolis congregation, and the Rev. H. D. Whitfield is to preach in Union church, Allegheny. The Ross avenue congregation, Wilkinsburg, will hold its first service in the South Avenue church tomorrow afternoon. The Rev. Richard M. Fowles, who was appointed minister at conference, will be in charge.

The corner-stone of the new church being built by St. Francis' Roman Catholic congregation of Homestead will be laid tomorrow afternoon. The Rev. Joseph Bauer of Bloomfield and the Very Rev. Joseph Suhr, vicar general of the diocese, will speak. The new building will cost $50,000 when finished.

The Rev. Carl A. Voss, formerly of Cincinnati, who was recently called to the pulpit of the Smithfield Street German Evangelical Protestant church, will be formally installed as pastor with special services tomorrow morning and evening. Addresses will be made and devotional exercises conducted at these services by the Revs. E. DeGeller, M. Orend, Eduard Voss, August F. Bender, Gilbert Schmidt and Alfred Schramm. Special music will be provided by a double quartet.

Fools of Solomon's Time.

The Rev. Dr. W. H. W. Rees will begin the first of a series of sermons on "The Fools of Solomon's Time—Are There Any Like Them Today?" in the Smithfield Street Methodist Episcopal church tomorrow night. His first theme will be, "The Conceited Fool."

Succoth, the last Jewish festival of the present season, began at sunset last evening and will continue seven days—the first and last days being held most sacred. The holiday is also known as "The Feast of the Tabernacles," and tends to remind the Hebrews that their forefathers, in journeying across the desert, had to dwell in booths. Among the orthodox booths are erected in yards and meals are taken there during the days of celebration.

The formal opening address to students of the Allegheny Theological seminary will be delivered tomorrow evening in the Fourth United Presbyterian church, Allegheny, by the Rev. W. W. Lawrence.

EXONERATES THE BIDDLES.

Convict in Illinois Penitentiary, Before Committing Suicide, Says He and Companion Killed Kahney.

Superintendent of Detectives McQuaide yesterday received a letter from James E. Brown, warden of the Southern Illinois penitentiary at Menard, enclosing a letter from James M. Brown, a convict, who recently committed suicide there, stating that the Biddle brothers did not kill Thomas D. Kahney on Mt. Washington in April, 1901.

The dead convict in the letter says he and two companions killed Kahney. The contents of the letter are discredited. The Biddles were identified as being in the neighborhood on the night of the murder, and Walter Dorman, who was with the Biddles and who confessed to the crime, was also identified as being in Kahney's store on the afternoon previous to the murder. The local detectives are of the opinion that Brown was partly demented from having served so much time in prisons.

INTEREST IN HOMESTEAD'S SUNDAY SCHOOLS LAGGING

A vigorous effort is to be made in Homestead to arouse more interest in the Sunday schools. It is claimed that the influences of the steel towns of Allegheny county tend to keep people away from church and that parents neglect to start their little ones at the Sunday schools. At a meeting yesterday of the 12 superintendents of the Homestead schools arrangements were made for a big rally on December 5, in the United Presbyterian church. J. H. Morris, superintendent of the Homestead schools, was appointed district chairman, and Homestead, with its suburbs, will be districted for effective work. At the meeting the speakers will be H. J. Heinz and W. D. Gray of Pittsburgh.

Another Sensation in Dougherty Case.

PEORIA, Ill., Oct. 13.—The grand jury today returned a true bill against Oliver J. Bailey, chairman of the finance committee of the Peoria school board, holding him on the charge of malfeasance in office, in "suffering Newton C. Dougherty unlawfully to convert to his own use school moneys to a large amount."

Bailey is one of the wealthiest men in this city.

Opening of Revival Campaign.

The opening meeting of the revival campaign to be conducted for several weeks under the auspices of the Disciples of Christ of Allegheny county, was held last evening in Carnegie Music hall, Braddock. The Rev. O. H. Phillips, pastor of the Third Christian church of Braddock, presided. The meeting was for rallying the members of the Christian Endeavor societies of the Christian church, to prepare them for the revival which is to follow the simultaneous movement. The address of last evening was delivered by the Rev. Dr. John Pounds of Cleveland.

Another Anti-Coffee Argument.

MILLVILLE, N. J., Oct. 13.—(Special.)—After suffering terrible agony all night, Mrs. John Sainsott, 50 years of age, died today from burns inflicted by scalding coffee.

TWENTIETH CENTURY WRECK HAS TIED UP MUCH MONEY

A Check of the United States Government for $65,000, Payable to Toledo Contracts, Was Partially Destroyed, Delaying Receipt of Money.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

WASHINGTON, Oct. 13.—While there is $65,000 in the United States treasury which belongs to Breyman Bros., of Toledo, the treasury and war department officials are unable to determine how this amount can be paid to the Toledo concern.

A voucher for the amount with several hundred thousand dollars was in the Twentieth Century Lake Shore wreck at Mentor, O. As most of the other amounts were small, the payees experienced no difficulty in securing duplicate checks and vouchers. But there is a law which prohibits the issuance of duplicate checks in excess of $2,500. To add to the vexation of the government officials there is a question as to whether the Breyman check has been entirely destroyed in the wreckage.

R. B. Crane, cashier of the National bank of Toledo, who is here to take the matter up with the treasury department, has what is supposed to be the remains of the Breyman check. The paper in the possession of Mr. Crane contains the written amount, but not the figures. The signature of the check is also gone, as is also the number.

He has been unable to convince the treasury officials that there is sufficient indications on the paper to show that it is the original check, and the war department officials are not disposed to issue an order for a duplicate. As a solution of the difficulty, Secretary Shaw has suggested that if Col. Staunton, the disbursing officer at Boston, will issue a new check at his own risk the treasury department will cash it. Otherwise it will be necessary for Breyman Bros. to go to congress for a special law to cover the case. The $65,000 is for dredging which the Toledo firm did in the Boston harbor.

The Death Roll.

James Stratton.

James Stratton, aged 58, at one time one of McKeesport's foremost politicians, died suddenly yesterday shortly after noon while seated in a chair at the family home, 817 East Park Way, McKeesport. His death is said to have been due to rheumatism which affected his heart. Mr. Stratton had been ill but a short time. He was found in a dying condition by his youngest daughter, Miss Margaret, who summoned the other members of the family. He died before a physician could be summoned. James Stratton had been a resident of McKeesport for 40 years. He was born in Ireland and came to McKeesport direct from the old country. He entered at once into Democratic politics. He took a prominent part in some of McKeesport's most memorable political contests, principal among which were those between himself and the late Mayor James Z. Andre, who defeated him for that office, and three years later with the late Robert T. Carothers who also defeated him. Mr. Stratton's death came within less than a month of that of his successful opponent, Mr. Carothers, who also died suddenly from rheumatism of the heart. Mr. Stratton served four years as a councilman in the Sixth ward. Of late years he devoted his entire attention to the contracting business. Mr. Stratton was a prominent member of St. Peter's Roman Catholic church, but when the new St. Pius X. congregation was formed he became a member there. He was also a member of the C. M. B. A., branch No. 26, and of McKeesport conclave No. 91, I. O. H. Mr. Stratton is a brother of Common Councilman David Stratton of McKeesport. He is also survived by two other brothers, Michael and John, and four sisters. Mr. Stratton married Miss Annie Rooney in Ireland, and is survived by his widow and five children, James, Daniel, Margaret, Mary and Alice.

Mrs. Nancy McGregor Martin, widow of Charles Martin, died yesterday afternoon. Funeral services will be held tomorrow afternoon at 4 o'clock at the residence of her daughter, Mrs. Joseph O. Brown, 319 Evaline street. The interment will be private next Monday morning. The cause of Mrs. Martin's death was a lingering illness, which was brought to a sudden termination by an attack of pneumonia from which she suffered for three days. Mrs. Martin was born at Carlisle, Pa., on July 9, 1818, and came to Pittsburgh when she was a young girl. She had resided here ever since. In 1832 she married Charles Martin, who for a number of years was well known in this community as the trusted watchman of the Dollar Savings bank in Fourth avenue, and who died about eight years ago. Mrs. Martin is survived by three children, Mrs. Kennedy, wife of Hugh Kennedy of the Oakland patrol station; Mrs. Joseph O. Brown, widow of the late Recorder Brown, and Dr. W. J. Mrs. Welsh was a member of St. Brigid's church. She leaves the following children: Mrs. John Kerns, Mrs. George McClelland, Mrs. William H. Wallace and Miss Barbara. Edward J., Henry and Michael Welsh, all of this city. Funeral services will be held at her daughter's residence this morning at 8:30 o'clock.

SHOOTING IN WYLIE AVENUE FOLLOWS A WORDY DISPUTE

PHILIPPINE RAILROAD PAYS 15 PER CENT PROFIT

Heavy Earnings as Shown by Report May Influence Bidding for Additional Rights.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

WASHINGTON, Oct. 13.—According to the annual report for 1904 of the Manila Railway Company, owning the line connecting Manila on the south with Dagupan on the north, the road paid 15 per cent net profit. The total receipts were $1,475,069 and the expenditures $660,724, leaving a net profit of $814,345. The original cost of the road was $5,353,700.

It is stated that by American methods of accounting the property would have paid almost 25 per cent on the investment.

It is thought at the insular bureau that this showing may have an important influence upon the bidding next month by American capitalists for the right to construct additional railways in the Philippines.

2ND WARD BROOKLINE

During last July, while the First Ward of Brookline was being sold off with such an unparalleled rush, there was but one track laid on the great 80-foot Boulevard. Since then this magnificent thoroughfare has been double-tracked, and at present the second track is being put down on West Liberty Avenue, where connection is made with the Mt. Lebanon line.

The great work of double-tracking the entire Brookline system has been commenced with a determination to finish it in a hurry. Another promise made to the public is thus being fulfilled to the very letter.

The remarkable trolley to The Grand New White City will soon have its side switches abolished and two tracks completed all the way from the Boulevard to the Tunnel.

We need not dwell on the advantages that this double-tracking will be to the people who are locating at Brookline. They can realize that the 15-minute run is assured as soon as there will be no switches to hold back the cars.

That is one reason why the enthusiasm of investors over the Second Ward of Brookline is reaching the point where people, including good, solid business men, are becoming money-mad and not a few are buying several instead of single lots.

Business men purchasing like this demonstrate beyond all precedent that the Second Ward of Brookline is universally regarded as the most promising real estate development that could have been possible.

Electricity and location together are working wonders in creating the finest suburb that was ever put on top of ground.

Electricity in form of two great electric trolleys that Brookline will have running through the Tunnel to the city. The one that is now being operated by way of Brookline Boulevard and West Liberty Avenue, and the one that has been surveyed over private right-of-way on a one per cent grade.

And what master triumphs in traction building these lines will be! The rails, motors and entire equipment of each system will be a decided improvement over any previous construction. When the temporary coaches have been displaced by the better cars, the service will be equal to the finest there is.

The whole truth of the matter is that as Brookline grows older more people are becoming elated over it. That's why the Second Ward, with its magnitude of graded, sewered, macadamized, curbed, stone paved and granolithic sidewalks and electric lighted streets is proving such an attraction to practical homeseekers. The property is also piped with natural gas and city water.

Most of the lots are 40x120 feet, and all of them run back to alleys. The prices range from $75 to $1,200, on terms of 5 per cent down and 2½ per cent monthly for balance, with no interest nor taxes for you to pay for two years.

TAKE BROOKLINE CARS Anywhere on Smithfield Street. These cars start on Liberty Avenue at the Union Depot and pass the B. & O. and P. & L. E. Depots.

SOUVENIR GIFT

Confident that the public would appreciate a valuable memento of such an unusually beautiful and successful suburb as Brookline, we have had manufactured to our order thousands of sterling or solid silver souvenir spoons (tea size) with landscape view showing Brookline Boulevard and the cars passing over the great new 15-minute trolley line artistically embossed in the bowl.

The embossing on the handle is equally superb.

Jewelers tell us it is the handsomest souvenir of any description that could possibly be conceived.

It will be presented free, purely as a gift, to all persons (except children) who may visit the property and there secure the escort or indorsement of one of our representatives.

But the distribution will be confined to Tuesdays, Wednesdays, Thursdays and Fridays. The spoons, however, will be on exhibition the other days of the week, so that you may come and see them at any time.

CLASS OF 120 OUT OF 1,723 SEEKERS

Announcement of Those Who Compose First Class in Carnegie Technical Schools.

WILL ADMIT OTHERS LATER

The names of the students who have been accepted for the day school of applied science at the Carnegie Technical schools, and who will commence their work next Monday, were announced yesterday. Owing to the large number which took the examinations, many times in excess of what can be accommodated this winter, it was necessary to secure those ranking best, as the accommodations that are provided for teaching purposes for building "A" are limited. When buildings "B" and "C" are completed, an additional number of students will be sent for. Those having done best in the examinations will be given preference over new students.

The students who have been admitted come from many different points in Allegheny county, Pennsylvania and other states in the union, and it would aid materially the work if private families having rooms to rent in the vicinity of the schools will send a list of them to the office of the director, giving the lowest terms, as many of the students cannot afford to pay much above the minimum rate for these accommodations.

Many Students Self-Supporting.

Nearly one-third of the students admitted are absolutely self-supporting, having with great effort saved sufficient funds to devote their time to securing an education. Many of the students will likewise seek work at night, while pursuing their studies in the day time. It is in order to make their problem less difficult that private families in the neighborhood of the schools are requested to make minimum rates for lodging.

Many of the students prepared themselves for the entrance examinations in the Pittsburgh and Allegheny High schools, while quite a number have attended other institutions, among which can be named the following: Western University of Pennsylvania, Washington and Jefferson college, Central High School of Cleveland, Manual Training School of Washington university, St. Louis; Colorado School of Mines, Oberlin college, Ohio & Northern university, Juniata college, Cascadilla school, Bordentown Military institute, East Liberty academy, Pittsburgh; Shadyside academy, Pittsburgh; Pittsburgh academy, Pittsburgh; Baltimore Polytechnic, Georgia Institute of Technology, Atlantic Reading High school, Trenton High school, Williston seminary, East Hampton, Mass.; Homestead, Munhall, Braddock and Wilkinsburg High schools, City College, New York city; Swarthmore and Haverford Preparatory schools, near Philadelphia; Spring Garden institute, Philadelphia; Allegheny college, Holy Ghost college, St. Mary's, etc.

Over 1,700 Want to Be Students.

The total number of students who registered their desire to attend the day school of applied science in the form of applications was 1,723, of this number 1,603 were found to be insufficiently prepared, were of insufficient age, or desired courses of instruction which do not rightly belong to the day school of applied science. Of the balance, 604, the following 120 have, after entrance examinations, been approved by the faculty and admitted as the first class. Additional students will be added to this number as soon as more teaching area is available. The school opens its doors for its regular work next Monday morning, with most of its class-rooms completely equipped, and its shops and laboratories nearing completion. The curriculum that will go into effect during the first week will be wholly dependent upon the facilities in properly dividing the entrance students into five separate sections, so that no single instructor will handle at any time over 24 boys.

The announcement for the night schools will be issued before the end of this month, the date being wholly dependent upon the progress made in securing and properly placing the equipment.

SOUSA COMES AGAIN.

Banda Rossa Makes Farewell Appearance at the Expo Tonight After Very Satisfying Engagement.

It's farewell to Sorrentino tonight and another welcome to Sousa next Monday at the Expo. The Banda Rossa, under the leadership of Sorrentino, has made a name for itself during the past week which culminated last evening in a general outburst of enthusiasm during the Wagner program. The audience in Expo music hall last night fairly "rose" to the "Red Band of Italy" when that organization reached the "Ride of the Valkyries" number on the program, and stamped its approval on Sorrentino's crimson-coated men.

Last night was a typical "society" night at the Exposition. Music hall was crowded and the promenades in the main building and in the amusement area were thronged with pleasure-seekers. Machinery hall, containing the fire show, "Fighting the Flames," received more than its full quota of visitors during the evening, and the cheers emanating from the fire show building could be heard to the river's edge.

Much interest is manifest in the announcement that another valuable gold watch will be given away at the Exposition tonight to the woman visitor holding the ticket with the number corresponding to that which has been deposited with Manager Fitzpatrick. The announcement of the winner will be made at 10 o'clock tonight at the watch booth in the main building of the Exposition. Women only will be given tickets.

This afternoon's musical program follows:

2:00 P. M.

The Great Western March.....Sorrentino
Overture, "Fra Diavolo".....Auber
Selection, "Babes in Toyland".....Herbert
Mazurka.....Sorrentino
Grand Selection from "La Traviata," Act IV.....Verdi

7:00 P. M.

"The Voice of Love".....Schuman
Grand Fantasie from "Faust".....Gounod
Waltz, "Wedding of the Winds".....Hall
Grand Selection from "Aida," Act VI....Verdi
"American Patrol".....Meacham

SCALE IS INDORSED.

Cedar Point Agreement Meets With Approval by Workers—Pots Now in Operation.

At a special meeting yesterday of the National Association of Window Glass Manufacturers at Hotel Anderson the Cedar Point sliding scale was indorsed. President Simon Burns agreed to the signing of a five-year scale. It will have protecting clauses beneficial alike to employer and employed. The meeting was presided over by J. B. Johnston of Hartford City, Ind., while G. W. Morenus was secretary. It was generally agreed that to repudiate the Cedar Point scale would be a foolish move.

Over 1,000 pots were represented at the meeting, and the general trend of opinion was in favor of eliminating all further conferences with the Amalgamated workers. Officials of the manufacturers gave out the following list of plants operating:

C. P. Cole plant, Lancaster, O., 45 pots; J. R. Johnston plant, Hartford City, Ind., 48 pots; H. E. Van Cleve plant, Kane, Pa., 60 pots; Washington plant, 26 pots; Tuna plant, Bradford, Pa., 30 pots; Camp Glass Company, Smethport, Pa., 36 pots; Healy company, Hazlehurst, 26 pots. The following plants will start next week: Johnston's No. 2, Hartford City, 12 pots; Johnston's plant, Independence, Kan., 36 pots; Brownsville plant of Van Cleve, 60 pots; Knedes plant, Coudersport, 48 pots. In all of these plants the Pittsburgh union has its wage scale, and is fast supplying men for those ready to start.

MAE WOOD'S SUIT AGAINST SENATOR PLATT DISMISSED

OMAHA, NEB., Oct. 13.—Judge Day, in the district court, today dismissed the suit of Mae C. Wood against United States Senator Thomas C. Platt and the United States Express Company, in which Miss Wood asked $25,000 for services rendered and for a garnishment against the senator. The court decided that Senator Platt had no money in the possession of the express company.

ARTILLERY HORSES DASH OVER PRECIPICE WITH THEIR RIDERS

One Private Is Killed, Two Are Fatally Injured and Many More Are in Hospitals, Suffering from Broken Limbs.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

JUNCTION CITY, KAN., Oct. 13.—Private Albert Laste of the Twenty-ninth battery of field artillery was killed during target practice at Fort Riley today. Private John Connelly and G. J. Simpson of the same battery are thought to be fatally injured. While Privates Leary, Norman, Lancaster and Cline of the same organization are in a hospital with broken limbs and internal injuries. A large number of other artillerymen were hurt.

The casualties were caused by frightened horses galloping over a precipice with riders and limbers. The accident occurred while north of Fort Riley. The battery's guns had been placed and its eight limbers, loaded with ammunition, were at the rear with six horses hitched to each limber. The drivers had dismounted. When the battery was ready for firing a large red flag was run up on a staff as a signal to the range party at the target to get out of the range of the guns.

The wind blew the flag out in the faces of the horses and they stampeded. Some drivers succeeded in getting into saddle, others were dragged, but most of the drivers were left behind. The horses dashed over a small cliff and went down in a mass with their riders.

JURORS HAVE SECRET LOCKED IN BREASTS

Today Concludes the Work of Choosing Prize Winners from Carnegie Art Gallery Group.

This will be a fateful day in the little brick shed at the entrance of Schenley park, which is used as the temporary quarters of the Carnegie art galleries. From 800 pictures which are piled up there will be picked three prize winners which will yield their painters sums of $1,500, $1,000 and $500, respectively. The choice will be made this morning, and this afternoon the 10 art jurors who were invited here to be the adjudicators in the collection will finish their task. The last consignment of pictures is expected to arrive here this morning from New York.

The work of the artists even now is practically finished. It is safe to say that there is not one in the group who does not know exactly what pictures will be chosen as the lucky trio. The jurors took a night off last evening and were entertained by the fine arts of the institute. It was a thoroughly Bohemian affair and when Ben Foster and Elmer W. Schofield looked through the clouds of tobacco smoke that wreathed the table and made mutual remarks about certain exquisite "cloud effects" it was said that the atmosphere of one of the prize-winning pictures was thus suggested.

The strangers who have not been admitted to all the secrets of the artistic deceivrate were busy guessing as the dinner progressed, but the secret was not divulged. The artists will leave Pittsburgh tonight and tomorrow.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 13.—(Special.)—Senator P. C. Knox of Pittsburgh is in the city for a few days. His home on K street is being prepared for the return of the family to Washington for the winter. The senator was a guest at luncheon at the White House yesterday when the President entertained him and Secretaries Root and Taft. The trustees also prepared a circular which will be sent to every policyholder, "inviting an expression of their wishes touching the selection from their number of the persons to be voted for by the trustees for directors of the society at the annual meeting to be held on December 6." The board of trustees is composed of former President Grover Cleveland, Justice Morgan J. O'Brien and George Westinghouse.

FEDERAL ATTORNEY TO TAKE THE STUMP

Ohio Orator Will Not Be Called to Account by Department of Justice.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

WASHINGTON, Oct. 13.—John J. Sullivan, United States district attorney for the Northern district of Ohio, will take the stump for Herrick in the Ohio campaign and will not be interfered with by the federal authorities. According to the rules of the department of justice United States attorneys are not permitted to become pernicously active in politics, but making speeches for the party ticket in their home states will not be construed as pernicious activity.

Mr. Sullivan is a good speaker and has a large circle of acquaintances throughout the state. His services will be welcomed by the Republican committee.

It, however, he should devote any considerable time and attention to the election of Gov. Herrick it is probable that the Democrats would file complaints against him with the department of justice and have him called off. It lies with the department to draw the line between perfectly proper activity and a reasonable effort in support of the party ticket.

Dominguez confessed that he put Carmona in the trunk, but said he did not intend to murder him. He had over $3,000 in stolen money on his person when apprehended.

We'll stop your shivering with garments whose grateful warmth is most happily linked with eligible styles and the foremost popular effects. Prices that seem to X-Ray your pocketbook and adjust themselves to its contents to make it easy for you.

All-wool Suits & Topcoats at $10.

Try on the garments. Note their effect and fineness and you will naturally look for a $12.50 price mark.

American mills, with reputations built on honor, made the woolens—all standard and novelty weaves, in correct and fadeless colors and fashionable effects.

Tans, olive and black coverts are most in evidence in the Topcoats, with whipcords for those who want something different.

Cheviots, Tweeds and the various worsted weaves are seen in the suits.

Dissect any garment in our stock and you will find the haircloth, canvas, wadding and all the other unseen features conscientious in quality and stayed with enough stitches to insure a good shape.

Shoulders, lapels and collars hand-shaped to stay shapely. Linings, buttonholes, trimmings, etc., give evidences of good, honest workmanship.

All-wool Suits & Topcoats at $15

Finest American woolens in the most tasteful effects—some of them copies of imported novelties appear in these garments.

Hand-tailoring touches, lavishly applied wherever correct and skillful shaping imparts the finish that gives the stamp of style.

In the Suits are seen the green mixtures that are the season's fad, the grays, that retain their popularity, and the dark colors that never go out of style.

In the Overcoats, all the richest tan shades, olives, Oxfords, mixtures and blacks.

Correct new models, fresh from the best tailoring houses in America, selling elsewhere at $18 and $20.

No better suits in America for the money to meet the wants of conservative business men who do not permit their prosperity to encourage extravagance.

Men's Garments That Are High-Art Tailoring

Making clothes is ranked as an "industry"—but half a dozen American tailoring houses have elevated it to the pinnacle of a high art. All their workmen are graduates of good custom-tailoring establishments, with cutters who are the "princes" of their profession. Only imported woolens enter their workrooms, and the entire manufacturing process is directed and inspected by sharp-eyed experts. The high-class garments they produce are the ones we sell for $20, $25, $30 and upwards to $36.

Men's Trousers—All-wool Trousers in black and blue cheviots, fancy worsteds and cassimeres, tailored up to the $2.50 and $3 standard, for $1.98. Finer garments for $3.50, which are the counterparts of the $3.50 Trousers elsewhere.

As for the style and tailoring, the "College Brand" label on every garment guarantees that.

Swagger "Sampeck" Raincoats

These also are for young men with 33, 34, 35 and 36-in. breast measures. The broad shoulders, dressy lapels and roomy back and front so suggestive of ease and style will make these prime favorites. [By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 13.—Three to one is now the advantage which the New York Nationals hold over the Philadelphia Americans in the struggle for the world's championship. The New Yorks scored their third victory today, and, if the local men succeed in getting the better of the visitors in tomorrow's contest, the world's championship flag will fly from the big mast in the Polo grounds.

Philadelphia, heavily handicapped by the loss of the services of the erratic Pitcher Waddell, has succumbed to the masterful work of Mathewson twice, and today McGinnity pitched glit-edged ball, which partially aloned for his defeat at the hands of Bender last Tuesday on the same diamond.

Manager Mack and Matthewson arrived on the battlefield today with firm determination, and while the betting, which at times was lively, indicated that the local men were almost prohibitive favorites, not a few of the Philadelphia adherents were willing to risk money on the visitors' chance of victory. These bets were snapped up quickly, and before the game had gone two innings, all wagering was at a standstill.

Manager Mack decided that his Indian pitcher should have a sufficient rest, and put Plank in, who, with good backing, would have done better. In the fourth inning Monte Cross was encouraged to get a bunter from Mertes that he fumbled the ball, and juggled with it long enough to let the batter reach first safely. This was the only error recorded in the game, but it was an expensive one, as it formed the nucleus of a run—the run which won.

McGinnity and Plank were equally effective, but Plank managed to get a hit, which the "Iron Man" failed to do.

The game as played in detail is as follows, Philadelphia going first to bat:

First Inning: Philadelphia—Hartsel was out, Devlin to McGann, McGinnity and McGann retired Lord on a weak splash. Davis singled to center. Devlin made a fine running catch to Lave Cross' foul fly. No runs.

New York—Bresnahan got a base on balls. Brown struck out. Donlin sacrificed, Plank to Davis. A wild pitch allowed Bresnahan to get to third. McGann struck out. No runs.

Second Inning: Philadelphia—Seybold was patient and walked. Murphy sacrificed Gilbert to McGann. Monte Cross fanned. Dahlen and McGann dismissed Powers. No runs.

New York—Mertes struck out. Dahlen hit to L. Cross and was thrown out at first. Devlin dogied to left. Lave Cross caught Gilbert's foul fly. No runs.

Third Inning: Philadelphia—Plank singled to short center. Hartsel sacrificed, Devlin to McGann. Lord was thrown out, Gilbert to McGann. Davis filed to Donlin. No runs.

CHICAGO NATIONALS AGAIN DOWN THE WHITE STOCKINGS

CHICAGO, Oct. 13.—Twelve thousand one hundred and eighty-four people today witnessed a pitchers' battle between White and Weimer, in which the Nationals won the third game of the Chicago championship series 3 to 2. The Nationals were held to three hits, two of which were made in the third inning. In the second inning White gave a pass, made a wild pitch and, with Slagle's triple and two errors, the Nationals made their three scores. White pitched superb ball after this and the Americans rallied in the eighth, but could not overcome the lead against them. The Nationals have won two out of the three games. Callahan's running catch of Chance's long fly was a feature. The score:

The Allegheny Preparatory school will play Trinity hall today at Washington. These two schools play the game in a way seldom seen between two secondary schools. The Preps defeated Trinity in both games last year. The present game will be played on the Millvale field, November 25. Since the game with Allegheny High school, E. B. Shilton, last year's right tackle for the Preps., has again returned to school, and will fill his old position in today's game. The Shadyside academy second team would play local 90-pound teams. Call up the academy.

Ogden Mills Reid, son of Ambassador Whitelaw Reid, is forming a football eleven from among his fellow students of Yale law school. Reid is himself substitute end rush on the Yale squad and a number of other law students will be drafted from the candidates. They will play practice games with several athletic clubs in Connecticut as preliminaries.

Another unusual means of aiding students who work their way through college to earn funds has been found by the Self Help bureau of Yale university and the football management. Hereafter instead of hiring special constables of the town of Orange, in which Yale field is located, to do police duty and take tickets at the gate, stalwart undergraduates will be hired. But to handle the big crowds at the championship game with Princeton the New Haven police will probably be drafted.

Manager Wicks of the W. and J. conferred with Manager Joe Thompson of W. U. P. yesterday relative to officials for their football game this fall. No selection was made.

Marrietta Is Outclassed.

MARIETTA, O., Oct. 13.—(Special.)—Marietta college defeated Muskingum college of New Concord this afternoon 52 to 6 in a game characterized by numerous sensational runs made by nearly every man on the local team. Muskingum was outweighed and outclassed at every point, being unable to score a first down during the entire game. Gilman's 40-yard dash for a touchdown was a feature. Ohio State scored 40 points against Muskingum last Saturday.

Officials—Sweeney of Marietta and Moore of Muskingum.

Local Golf Today.

Brighton Country club—Qualifying round for the club championship will be played on the Brighton links this afternoon. The winner will be awarded a cup offered by C. W. Dahlinger, president of the club, and there is also a cup for the runner-up. Sixteen men will qualify in today's play. The first round will be played on Monday, at 18 holes, match play. Play will continue throughout next week with the finals probably on next Saturday.

This match was postponed from October 9. There will also be a contest of three cups offered by T. M. Marshall. In this contest will be at 18 holes medal play for members of the club who are over 18 years of age.

W. A. HANLEY—HARVARD.
He is a likely candidate for the fullback position.

CAMBRIDGE, MASS., Oct. 13.—(Special.)—The Harvard varsity eleven meets Springfield Training school tomorrow afternoon on the Soldiers' field gridiron, and a close contest is anticipated. Coach Reid expected to get a good line on his men in this game, but recent injuries will force him to use quite a few substitutes and an exceptional showing is not expected on account of lack of team work with the substitutes in line.

The left side of the Crimson line will be as strong as ever as O'Brien will look after left end, Brill, tackle, and Parker, guard. White will be called on to fill center position as Cutcliff is troubled with a bad knee. At right guard Reid will try out Kersberg, and at right tackle Fultz will replace Squires. Burnham replaces Hall at right end. Starr will direct the team at quarter and the halfbacks are Nesmith and Wendell. Carr is booked for another trial at fullback. McIntyre, a second-year law school man, weighing 205 pounds, and Lovering of the hockey and 1908 class teams, joined the squad today.

Princeton.

PRINCETON, N. J., Oct. 13.—(Special.)—The Princeton team took its last practice this afternoon before meeting Bucknell, and every man played in a spirited manner, which means that the Pennsylvanians will have to work hard tomorrow if they expect to share honors with Lehigh and also cross the Tigers' goal. Dillon was again in his place at left guard. In the practice today the varsity was downed on the 20-yard line after a kick, and on the first lineup the ball was fumbled and fell into the hands of the scrub, resulting in an easy score. Harlan, who played quarterback on the scrub, distinguished himself by his brilliant work today. Probably the only changes in the regular lineup for the Bucknell game will be Waller at center and Dillon at left guard.

Cornell.

ITHACA, N. Y., Oct. 13.—(Special.)—A decided improvement in the speed with which the Cornell varsity went through signal practice was very noticeable this afternoon. The men seem to have thoroughly grasped the idea that the coaches have been trying to get into their heads since the Bucknell game, namely, that much of the success of a play depends upon the manner in which it is started. Although he excused them from having a scrimmage, Coach Warner kept the varsity and scrubs on the top of their nearly two hours' run, running through signals, trying new plays and paying particular attention to quick, snappy charging, and increasing the speed as the play advanced.

U. of P.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 13.—(Special.)—The Penn varsity football team did a lot of hard work this afternoon in preparation for the conflict with North Carolina tomorrow. There is no denying the fact that Penn is badly crippled. Zeigler, who has not been well since the Swarthmore game, is in the university hospital and his symptoms all point to an attack of typhoid fever. He is under Dr. Stingel's care, and every precaution is being taken to ward it off. Bunkwalter, left tackle on Penn's championship team last year, and Kase, who played a substitute guard, were on the field today watching the practice. The teams will lineup as follows in tomorrow's game:

Penn.		North Carolina.
Gaston	L. E.	Townsend
Draper	L. T.	Abernathy
Robinson	L. G.	Gardner
Torrey	C.	Parker
Jenck	R. G.	Steele
Lamson	R. T.	Story
Scarlett	R. E.	Brown
Stevenson	Q. B.	Saddler
Shebie	L. H.	Winbourn
Longwell or Greene	R. H.	Snipes
Folwell	F. B.	Robertson (capt.)

Referee—"Pop" Corbin. Umpire—Dr. A. H. Sharpe. Linesman—"Bloody" Wallace.

State.

STATE COLLEGE, PA., Oct. 13.—(Special.)—The coaches are striving to have the varsity in good shape for the Gettysburg game here tomorrow, which is looked forward to as harder than usual, since Gettysburg succeeded in scoring against Penn. And as the Yale game comes October 21 the coaches are working constantly with this contest in view. The scrubs scored twice on the varsity today.

Inlow and Legel Punch Each Other.

ALTOONA, PA., Oct. 13.—The fight between Bill Inlow of Altoona and Punch Legel of Johnstown was a whirlwind affair for two rounds, and was so brutal that the police interferred and stopped the bout. From the tap of the gong the two big fellows were up and at it, and fought like tigers, refusing to obey the commands of the referee.

DAN PATCH IS A SPEEDY PACER

Equals World's Unpaced Record by Going a Mile in 1:59 1-4 at Lexington.

GOOD TIME IN OTHER RACES

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]
LEXINGTON, KY., Oct. 13.—Dan Patch today failed to lower the world's pacing record of 1:59¼ for a mile unpaced, held by Star Pointer, but, for the second time, the challenger for the record equalled Star Pointer's best time. A stiff breeze that struck Dan Patch in the face on the third quarter tired the pacer, so that he could not maintain the speed throughout the stretch. The time by quarters was: :30, :59, 1:28½, 1:59¼.

Hersey was behind Dan Patch and Scott Hudson drove a runner alongside. At the head of the stretch, a second runner was picked up and Dan Patch came home between two runners. He showed that he was tired. Hersey, who drove Dan Patch a mile on Saturday, October 7, sulked a pacemaker and dirt shield in 1:58¼, without touching him, today whipped vigorously through the last eighth. But urging was to no avail.

Star Pointer was driven on the track, and after an ovation from the crowd, viewed Patch's trial from the head of the stretch. The three match races on the card were eclipsed by the speed trials. Summaries:

FIRST FIRE IN 40 YEARS.

Rahe Company's Stables on South Side Are Damaged, and Some Contents Burned—Horses Are Saved.

Thirty of the 92 horses of the Joseph Rahe company were in the stables on Bingham street, when fire broke out last night at 9 o'clock. The horses were all taken out safely by the stablemen and employes from the Byers mill, who came to their assistance.

The Rahe company has been in business at the same stand, 810 and 814 Bingham street, for 40 years, and never before has any of their stables caught fire. Last night, however, fire started in the loft, no one knows how, and before it was put out 500 bushels of oats, 30 tons of hay and a lot of other grain products and horse feed were destroyed. The loss on contents and the damage to the stables amounted to $10,000. The building and stock are insured for $20,000.

Long before the firemen got to the scene of the fire workmen of the Byers mill were playing a hose upon the blaze.

MINISTERS DISCUSS THE ENDOWMENT QUESTION

Lancaster Seminary Asks for More Funds from the Pittsburgh Synod at Latrobe.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]
LATROBE, PA., Oct. 13.—This morning's session of the Pittsburgh synod, in Christ Reformed church, was devoted principally to securing a larger endowment for the Lancaster Theological seminary. The Rev. Dr. John C. Bowerman of the seminary faculty urged the necessity of increasing its income. It was decided to raise a fund of $150,000. The Rev. Dr. D. B. Lady of Duquesne, the Rev. W. M. Irvine, president of Mercersburg academy, the Rev. I. M. Motter of Fredericksburg, Md., the Rev. S. G. Wagner of Allentown, and the Rev. W. C. Cramer of Chambersburg, have each pledged themselves to secure $1,000.

About $10,000 was subscribed today, and Prof. Bowerman is confident that the fund will shortly be completed. It is expected that the synod of Pittsburgh, the Potomac and Eastern synods, will between them raise $25,000, when an appeal will be made to the laity to complete the fund. The subject of the comparatively few young men being educated for the ministry and the importance of using every effort to secure additional candidates for training, was discussed at length.

Following a business session this afternoon public services were held this evening. The Rev. Dr. C. J. Musser, editor of the Philadelphia Messenger, and the Rev. Thomas Yundt, superintendent of home missions, presented the interests which they represent.

The annual meeting of the Alumni association of Franklin and Marshall college followed the services in the church tonight. Lady of Duquesne was toastmaster.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]
WILKES-BARRE, PA., Oct. 13.—Judge Wheaton of the Luzerne county court, today handed down an opinion declaring unconstitutional part of the mine employment act of 1905. GOTHAM REPUBLICANS TURN DOWN JEROME

By Vote of 237 to 9 Borough and County Conventions Chose Flammer in His Stead.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]
NEW YORK, Oct. 13.—The Republican conventions to select candidates for the various offices in the borough of Manhattan and New York county were held tonight. Before the conventions met the executive committee of the county committee discussed for two hours the question whether or not the county convention would indorse District Attorney Jerome. Although there is no official relation between the borough and county conventions they are substantially the same, and until the leaders who made up the executive committee could settle the Jerome question both conventions were blocked.

Of the 37 members of the executive committee a dozen insisted Jerome should be renominated for the office he holds. The rest of the committee was bitterly opposed to his candidacy. As no satisfactory arrangement could be arrived at, a message was sent to William M. Ivins, the nominee for mayor, inviting him to appear before the committee and express his views.

Mr. Ivins said he was very anxious for the selection of Mr. Jerome as his running mate. He added, he did not wish the members to feel his personal feelings should rule, and he would be willing to abide by their vote. A vote was then taken and it resulted in 27 to 8 against Mr. Jerome's nomination.

On the call for nominations in the county convention for district attorney, Charles A. Flammer was placed in nomination. The mention as a candidate of William Travers Jerome by R. K. Prentice set the convention in an uproar, but when the roll was called Jerome received only 9 votes against 237 for Flammer. Mr. Jerome said when told of the result of the convention:

"It has not happened in my memory that a man has been so honored or received such an indorsement as has been practically unanimous in the opposition of the district leaders of all political parties in this city."

THREE BROTHERS ARE VICTIMS OF MAFIA

Deadly Italian Vendetta Pursues the Costas Until All Are Exterminated.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]
CHICAGO, Oct. 13.—Two Chicago crimes, never solved, have been connected with the recent murder of Caetano Costa, a merchant, in Brooklyn, N. Y. His death is attributed to the Mafia, and he is the latest victim of a deadly hate that has pursued the Costa family and the Italian family to which the family belonged.

Three years ago Guiseppi, a brother of the Brooklyn merchant, was found murdered in Jackson park, Chicago. Twenty-seven stiletto wounds on the body and a blue sash wound round the waist showed it was no common murder. For weeks the police worked in vain to trace the assassins.

Shortly afterward another brother, Luige, was killed at Geneva, Ill., under circumstances as mysterious as those which surrounded the murder of Guiseppi and those now which involve the assassination of Caetano Costa in New York.

Two years ago three Italians, said to have been parties to the same feud that prompted the killing of the Costa brothers, were shot and killed while in a shanty at Riverside, a suburb of Chicago. The assassins were never apprehended.

BOY LOSES A FOOT.

John Crehan, Returning from School, Is Pushed in Front of Car by His Companions.

John Crehan, aged six years, of Haldane street, Greenfield, a son of former Police Lieutenant William Crehan, was struck by a Greenfield avenue car at Greenfield avenue and Lydia street yesterday afternoon and had his left foot crushed so badly that amputation was necessary later at the Mercy hospital. The boy had just left the Greenfield avenue school and was on his way home with several companions when the accident occurred.

The boys were jostling each other off the sidewalk and at Lydia street young Crehan was shoved with sufficient force to throw him across the car track. A Greenfield avenue car was coming up the street and the boy fell directly in front of it. He was dragged about 10 feet and, his left foot going under the wheels, was crushed.

McCormick of the Western University.

An alarm of fire was sent in at 1:30 o'clock this morning for a blaze in the shop of Frank McComb, a sign painter at 139 Ninth street. A small piece of oil canvas caught fire from a gas jet and filled the place with smoke. Policeman Charles Barbert broke open the door and threw the burning canvas into the street before the arrival of the department.

Bankers Favor Insurance System, Preferably Government Supervision.

CONVENTION WORK FINISHED

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

WASHINGTON, Oct. 13.—The annual convention of the American Bankers' association ended today with the record of having been the largest attended and most successful from a business standpoint in the history of the association. The registration of arriving members continued until today, when the total of 3,429 was reached.

The business of the session today was executed with dispatch. It included a brief discussion of the advantages of having some system of insurance extended to depositors in banks, preferably supervised by the government, an address in advocacy of ship subsidy by the government and the election of officers, at which John L. Hamilton of Hoopeston, Ill., was made president.

At the conclusion of the convention the newly elected executive council held a meeting for organization. Col. J. D. Powers, president of the Union Trust Company, Louisville, Ky., was elected chairman; James R. Branch of New York was re-elected secretary for the 11th term, and Ralph Van Vechten of Chicago and William G. Fitzwilson of New York were re-elected assistant secretary and treasurer, respectively. Two vacancies on the council were filled by the election of Albert H. Curtis of New York and E. A. Potter of Chicago, the latter being elected to represent the savings banks and trust sections.

Nominated a Pittsburgher.

The savings banks section of the association presented a protest at not being allowed representation on the executive council, through a nomination made and then withdrawn. The nomination of the newly elected president of this section, Edward E. Duff of Pittsburgh, was made by the retiring president of the section, Charles Sprague, who said that the section had votes enough to displace one of the four men nominated by the nominating committee and substitute that of Mr. Duff. It was not desired to do this, however, but simply to give notice in the future that the savings banks and trust sections deserved and demanded recognition. The name of Mr. Duff was then withdrawn. In commenting on the nomination, President Swinney remarked to the convention:

"I believe Mr. Sprague's speech is for the good of the association. We are getting too much politics in the convention."

By resolution, the convention resented frequent alleged reports that the association placed noted criminals on salary to prevent their continued fraudulent operations. No such arrangements were ever made with wrongdoers, it was declared.

Addressed by Erie Banker.

Discussion of practical banking questions was opened by C. P. Allis of the Second National bank of Erie, Pa., who advocated a system of insurance for national bank deposits. He said that annual assessment of $100 paid by national banks would have paid all losses to depositors from bank failures in the last five years, besides leaving a surplus of $2,000,000, and that an annual assessment of $225 for the last 40 years would have paid all such losses during that period. Mr. Allis said the fact must be recognized that there is an underlying current of mistrust of banks pervading every community. This is augmented by the weekly report of bank failures. Mr. Allis indicated that the best way was to have the government supervise this insurance.

SOCIETY

Contributions to this department must bear the name and address of the writer to insure attention.

MRS. W. FINDLEY BROWN of Philadelphia, who has been visiting Mrs. Thomas W. Bakewell of Shady avenue, East End, left for the east last evening. As a farewell entertainment for Mrs. Brown a luncheon and bridge were given yesterday afternoon by Mrs. William Bacon Schiller of Forbes street, Squirrel Hill. The affair was given at the Pittsburgh Golf club with covers laid for eight. The guests were Mrs. Hermon Griffin, Mrs. Thomas W. Bakewell, Mrs. William Larimer Jones, Mrs. Augustus P. Burgwin, Mrs. Thomas K. Laughlin, Mrs. Thomas Howe Childs and Mrs. Brown, the guest of honor. Yellow chrysanthemums were used for the decorations which were exceedingly effective. Cards followed the luncheon. Among other social affairs given for the visitor during her stay in the city was the dinner at which Mr. and Mrs. Bakewell were host and hostess on Wednesday evening.

Gave Large Theater Party.

A theater party was given at the Belasco last evening by Mr. and Mrs. John A. Grabowsky in honor of their sister, Miss Margaret Aiken, whose marriage to Chester G. Fisher will take place next week. After the play supper was served at the Hotel Lincoln, a private dining room on the second floor having been reserved for the guests. In the party were Mrs. James H. Aiken, Miss Aiken and Mr. Fisher, and the former's guests, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Moul of Brooklyn, N. Y.; Miss Natalie Cornwall of Bridgeport; Miss Nan Woodhull of Brooklyn, and Miss Helen Upson of Mansfield; Miss Helen Cooper of St. Paul, Mrs. Grabowsky's guests; with Dale C. Jennings, Howard Parke, Charles Miller and Thomas MacConnel.

Miss Ida Fisher and Miss Amelia Fisher, sisters of the prospective bridegroom, will entertain in Miss Aiken's honor this evening. The guests, who will be taken on a coaching trip from the Harkaway Hunt club house in McDonald, will be the girls in the bridal party with those who are here from out-of-town. F. M. Lowry will drive the party in his coach and four which captured a ribbon at the Sewickley Heights horse show, Mrs. John Fisher, mother of the hostesses, will act as chaperone, and after the drive, dinner will be served at the club house for the same guests and the men in the bridal party. This will be followed later in the evening by an informal dance.

Wedding Anniversary Celebrated.

An exceptionally large and handsome affair was the reception given yesterday afternoon by Mrs. Samuel Ritchie of Thorn street, Sewickley. There were 300 guests present from the valley and the East End. The hostess was assisted by Mrs. Elizabeth Richardson, Mrs. Conrad F. Stolzenbach, Mrs. T. T. McNish, Mrs. Robert Linton, Mrs. R. M. Sherrard, Mrs. George Brown, Miss Ella McElveen, Miss Jennie Brown, Miss Mariette Fullbush, Miss Helen Cochran, Miss Mary Greeves and Miss Nettie Prater. The house was elaborately decorated with huge bunches of chrysanthemums. In the evening dinner was served for the aids and their husbands and men friends, covers being laid for 24. The place cards which were in the shape of an autumn leaf, bore the dates "1880-1905," which made known that the affair was in honor of the fifteenth wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Ritchie. This had been unknown to the guests until that time.

Entertainment for Travelers.

A handsomely-appointed entertainment was given last evening by Mrs. James Hamilton, Lincoln avenue, in honor of Miss Lillian Curren, Miss Alice Tommey and Miss Nellie McGlinchey, all of whom just returned from an extended trip through the west. The decorations were typical of the west; wild grasses and flowers from Nevada, Washington and other western states. The orchestra was concealed by a miniature Rocky mountain. The refreshments, also typical of the west, were served in true western style. The party was preceded by an afternoon tea, given by Mrs. Hamilton for the younger set in honor of her eldest daughter, Miss Dorothy.

Unique Affair for Bride.

The entertainment which Miss Edna Kerngood of Stratford avenue gave yesterday afternoon was a most original affair. The honor guest was Miss Daisy Sunstein, a bride-elect of next week. The entertainment took the form of a kitchen party to which each guest brought her favorite recipe. All were given aprons and caps and, dressed in this manner, each guessed what the other's recipe was. The prizes went to Miss Sunstein and Miss Hattie Sunstein. An employment agency was then established, Miss Sunstein being required to engage all her servants, which roles were enacted by the other girls. Miss Elsie Trauman as a laundress, carried off the prize as the best imitator. The refreshments were carried out in daisies, a pretty tribute to the bride. Wedding bells and yellow bulls were used to decorate, and the favors were rice-filled yellow china slippers.

Home Wedding in East End.

Miss Jennie Burnett and Dr. Harry B. Anderson, the latter of Ellwood City, will be married at 7:30 o'clock next Wednesday evening at the home of the bride's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Witmer, in Shatford avenue, East End. There will be no attendants. After their wedding trip Dr. Anderson and his bride will live in Ellwood City, where they have announced days at home after November 10. Mrs. D. E. Ferguson, of Atlantic and Woodworth avenues, East End, will be hostess at a luncheon and linen shower this afternoon in honor of Miss Burnett. Covers at the luncheon will be laid for 15 guests.

Pittsburgher to Wed Brooklyn Girl.

Many residents of the Smoky City will be interested in the approaching wedding of Miss Helen Irwin, formerly of this city, and James Edward MacCloskey, Jr., of Pittsburgh, which is dated for Wednesday, November 1, in Brooklyn, N. Y. Although the engagement of Miss Irwin and Mr. MacCloskey has never been formally announced, it has been an open secret among the friends of both for some time. The wedding will be a quiet affair at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. George W. Irwin, who since leaving Pittsburgh have resided in Brooklyn.

Home from the West.

Mrs. Edwin Lare and her daughter, Miss Adelaide Lare, have returned from an extended tour of the west. They have been absent from Pittsburgh for three months, the first part of which was spent in Colorado and the remainder in the Grand Canyon of Arizona and in California. Until Mrs. Lare and her daughter can secure a house they will occupy apartments in Library place, Allegheny.

In Honor of Bride-Elect.

Miss Barker and Miss Ella M. Barker were joint hostesses at cards yesterday afternoon at their home in Center avenue, Shadyside. The affair was planned in honor of Miss Alice Monroe, whose marriage to John James Sinclair of Morristown, N. J., will take place next Thursday. Luncheon was served before the games, and enough guests were present to require the use of eight tables. The score cards were tiny white slippers tied with pink ribbons. The game prizes were carried out in the ices, confections and in the decorations.

Will Entertain Today.

Miss Margaret E. Wanner of Kentucky avenue, East End, will entertain this afternoon with a luncheon in honor of Mrs. Louis D. Ingham, a recent bride who was Miss Isabelle Kistler before her marriage. The luncheon will be a pink and green affair with covers laid for Mrs. Ingham, Miss Emeline Wanner, Mrs. Philip Averbach, Miss Anna Park, Miss Katherine Price, Miss Mary Chambers, Miss Nellie Johnston, Miss Helen Kirk, Miss Hazel Ahlborn, Miss Mary Lacock and Miss Aida Owens.

Dance at the Brighton Club.

The last in the series of dances at the Brighton Country club was held last evening under the auspices of the entertainment committee. The usual program was carried out, many club members taking dinner at the club house before the dance, which was very informal. Late in the evening a buffet supper was served. The committee included Mrs. James, Mrs. Johnson, Mrs. Frank Eugene Moore, Mrs. Edward Thompson, and Mr. and Mrs. Lang Huklil.

Went Away from Home to Marry.

Miss Nannie Hill, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Hill of Bealsville, Pa., and Samuel S. Dray of Steubenville, were wedded yesterday afternoon, the ceremony being performed at Hays by the Rev. R. S. Varner, pastor of the First Methodist Episcopal church of Hays. The bride was attended by Miss Ella Cornell of Bealsville. The ceremony made the third that Mr. Varner had performed within a few months in the Hill family.

NEW CASTLE, PA., Oct. 13.—(Special.)—The coming marriage of Miss Gail Moore, only daughter of the Rev. Dr. Samuel H. Mrs. Richard J. Evans of Franklin is expected in Allegheny next week to be the guest of her sister, Mrs. Frank Eugene Moore of Western avenue.

"Babes in the Wood" at Belasco.

The sale of seats for the big English extravaganza, "Babes in the Wood," already demonstrates that the fame of this attraction has reached Pittsburgh. This immense organization is due to arrive in Pittsburgh Sunday at noon in a special train of 12 cars from Philadelphia, where for four weeks it has packed the beautiful independent theater, the Lyric. It must not be accepted that "Babes in the Wood" is essentially a childrens spectacle. The Babes are simply a part of the story in a general way.

The council will report a general plan for the season at the meeting on Tuesday evening, and a special effort will be made to have the work taken up helpful to those teachers who expect to take the examinations for "Class B" next June. ITALIAN BOY TO SERVE LONG TERM

Joseph Carmecini Gets Eight Years for Waylaying and Killing Companion.

BOYS IN SERIOUS SCRAPE

Judge McClung yesterday sentenced Joseph Carmecini, the 14-year-old Italian who was convicted of second degree murder for stabbing to death Guiseppi Folo in Nan a rest Hazelwood, eight years to the penitentiary. Attorney W. M. Henman appeared for Carmecini and asked the court to be lenient on account of the youth of the prisoner, and the fact that he had only been in this country a year when the crime was committed.

Carmecini and Leonard Geduli were indicted for the murder of Folo, which occurred in a deserted thoroughfare leading off Hazelwood avenue, where the three Italians boarded together. A confession which it was alleged Carmecini had made to the police after his arrest played an important part. In the confession Carmecini stated that Folo had stolen $10 from Geduli, and that the two quarreled over the matter. Carmecini took Geduli's part and after the alleged thief had left the house he, with Geduli, followed Folo and assaulted him in the darkness. While Geduli held the victim's arms, Carmecini stabbed him half a dozen times, inflicting fatal wounds. Folo, with a stab wound through his heart, broke away from Geduli and after running nearly a quarter of a mile dropped dead in Flowers avenue.

When the case was first called for trial, a severance was granted and Carmecini was tried alone and convicted. Geduli was tried two weeks ago and acquitted. The confession, which was the strongest evidence against Carmecini, was ruled out at the trial of Geduli. Carmecini is the youngest convicted murderer ever sentenced in the Allegheny county courts.

Criminal Assault Cases.

Leslie Campbell and David Fuchs, two Elliott borough youths, were tried in criminal court before Judge Macfarlane on a charge of criminally assaulting Tillie Leman of the same borough. The girl is feeble-minded and has been so since her birth. The case was on trial all day and both defendants put up a strong defense. The jury had not returned a verdict at 5 o'clock when court adjourned. Judge Macfarlane waited an hour after the usual time for closing court to receive a verdict if one was agreed upon.

Patrick Casey of Hazelwood, tried for attempting to criminally assault two women who lived in his neighborhood, was acquitted on both charges. Other cases disposed of were: Thereon Hurley, false pretense, one day to the workhouse; Theodore Good, misdemeanor, sentence suspended; John Duchlo, misdemeanor, guilty.

A short hearing was held yesterday in the John L. Shuff boulevard case before United States Commissioner Gamble. Henry J. Bowden of Baltimore, a director of the Pittsburgh Railways Company, was the only witness examined.

An order was made in the divorce case of Lottie E. Edgar against George S. Edgar, reducing the alimony of the libellant. The court decrees that the respondent pay to the libellant $12.50 a week alimony instead of $15 a week, as heretofore ordered.

The court also handed down an opinion in the case of Lottie E. Edgar against George S. Edgar, in which he is charged with being a habitual drunkard. The court in its opinion says that on March 29, 1903, the [illegible] was made in this case directing the plaintiff to pay the costs of the proceedings, and a rearrangement was made. The matter was held over to which settlement could not be arrived at by the parties. The court says that upon a reconsideration of the whole case and a re-examination of the testimony, it is of the opinion that the costs should be paid by the defendant. The court orders that the order of March 29, 1903, be set aside, and directs that the costs of the proceedings be paid by the defendant.

The report of the commissioner in the divorce suit of Joseph M. Sherer against his wife, Jennie Sherer, was filed. The husband states that he and his wife were married in McKeesport on November 15, 1888. In September, 1898, his wife left him. When she told him she was going away she said that if she did not get along she would come back to him. He states that his wife gave no reason for leaving him, but said that she would not stay with him.

A libel in divorce was filed in the case of Paul C. Rowlands against his wife, Gertrude Rowlands. Rowlands charges his wife with malicious desertion.

Harrison Bock was appointed a commissioner in the divorce case of Annie B. Wattenbaugh against John A. Wattenbaugh.

Dispute Over a Lease

Judge Shafer filed an opinion in the case of the Central Trust Company against H. A. Lappe, a suit over a lease which both parties claim to own. Judge Shafer found that Lappe was one of the incorporators of the trust company and its first president. Before its charter was granted he and another incorporator leased No. 2003 Penn avenue at $30 a month for the company's offices, the lease to run five years. Finding that it would cost $2,000 to remodel the building, the company decided to take other quarters, and the directors, with Lappe in the chair, authorized Lappe to dispose of the lease. Eventually the building was re-leased at $120 a month. The money went to the trust company for some time, until Lappe ceased to be president, when he claimed to own the lease in his own right and collected the rent, paying the owner his proportion.

Judge Shafer decides that the lease was taken for the trust company and belongs to it. He orders a decree drawn declaring Lappe trustee for the company, directing him to assign the lease to the trust company, enjoining him from further interference, and providing that he shall make an accounting of the money collected.

Suit to restrain the city and the delinquent tax collector from collecting a 5 per cent commission on certain taxes was begun by the Pittsburgh Gas and Coke Company yesterday. The tax imposed on the property in 1904 was $14,382.40. The company claimed the assessment on which it was levied was excessive, but the court decided otherwise. In the meantime the period for paying taxes has expired, and this tax being delinquent, the city refused to accept payment without the 5 per cent penalty.

The petitioner in the quo warranto proceedings brought to compel the borough of Esplen to improve River avenue filed a traverse yesterday. They deny that the borough has made such street improvements as it claimed in its answer.

Two Murder Trials Next Week.

Two murder trials are on the criminal court list for next week. John Williams will be tried on Monday for the murder of his mother-in-law and Sophia Scott on Wednesday for the murder of her father at Leetsdale.

Suit for $1,000 damages has been entered by Archy Bryan against William Kress. Bryan alleges that while driving on a country road his buggy was run down by a team owned by Kress and Mrs. Bryan seriously hurt. He charges that Kress negligently abandoned his team on a public highway.

WHAT JOY THEY BRING TO EVERY HOME

as with joyous hearts and smiling faces they romp and play—when in health—and how conducive to health the games in which they indulge, the outdoor life they enjoy, the cleanly, regular habits they should be taught to form and the wholesome diet of which they should partake. How tenderly their health should be preserved, not by constant medication, but by careful avoidance of every medicine of an injurious or objectionable nature, and if at any time a remedial agent is required, to assist nature, only those of known excellence should be used; remedies which are pure and wholesome and truly beneficial in effect, like the pleasant laxative remedy, Syrup of Figs, manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. Syrup of Figs has come into general favor in many millions of well-informed families, whose estimate of its quality and excellence is based upon personal knowledge and use.

Syrup of Figs has also met with the approval of physicians generally, because they know it is wholesome, simple and gentle in its action. We inform all reputable physicians as to the medicinal principles of Syrup of Figs, obtained, by an original method, from certain plants known to them to act most beneficially and presented in an agreeable syrup in which the wholesome Californian blue figs are used to promote the pleasant taste; therefore it is not a secret remedy and hence we are free to refer to all well informed physicians, who do not approve of patent medicines and never favor indiscriminate self-medication.

Please to remember and teach your children also that the genuine Syrup of Figs always has the full name of the Company—California Fig Syrup Co.—plainly printed on the front of every package and that it is for sale in bottles of one size only. If any dealer offers any other than the regular Fifty cent size, or having printed thereon the name of any other company, do not accept it. If you fail to get the genuine you will not get its beneficial effects. Every family should always have a bottle on hand, as it is equally beneficial for the parents and the children, whenever a laxative remedy is required.

EMICH FLATS GO TO R. A. WHITESIDE

Price Is $125,000 and Beaver Falls Lots Valued at $55,000 Are Traded.

NORTH SIDE DEAL PENDING

The deal for the Emich apartment house in Allegheny, which was started several weeks ago, was closed yesterday. R. A. Whiteside gets title to the property from Frank B. Tomb and Ahlon E. East, who secured it from Lloyd Brothers last year. The consideration for the apartments was $125,000, and in part payment for them Mr. Whiteside tendered 100 lots at Beaver Falls which were put into the deal at $55,000. The Emich is a six-story pressed brick structure, fire proof, and was erected three years ago. It stands on a lot 42x133 feet in North avenue, near Poplar street, facing East park. The building is one of the best apartment houses in either city, having 24 suites of from six to eight rooms and bath each. The lower halls are of marble and the rooms have metal ceilings. A private light and heat plant is one of the features of the building. The flats rent for from $22.50 to $45.50 a month each, so that the building pays 7.6 per cent on the investment as announced.

The lots which Mr. Whiteside gives in part payment are part of the Whiteside addition No. 1 and No. 2, and are situated just outside the town of Beaver Falls. They average 20x120 feet each, and face in Beaver, Edwards, Center and Mayfield streets. The plan, which is to the northwest of the town, was opened last November and is within two squares of the street car line. It is likely that a part of the lots will be improved this fall, as the new owners have large interests in the near vicinity.

Important Deal for Allegheny.

If a deal now pending goes through Allegheny will have opened soon a residence locality that in many points surpasses her most desirable places that are now built up. The property is the former James Andrews homestead at the head of Federal street, on which a $0 days' option has been secured by Charles A. Jamison of Arbuckles & Co. and others, the sum of $1,000 having been paid on the deal. The property includes about 11 acres and it is said the price is about $8,000 an acre. It faces 1,500 feet on Federal street, and has a long frontage also in Sandusky street, Bell avenue and Heath street in the Twelfth ward. The homestead has been known for years as "Ingleside Place," and with the big house near the center of the plot is one of the landmarks of that district. It was the original intention of the prospective buyers to get the property for an amusement park, it is said, but later they decided to offer it for sale for residence lots. If this be done the convenience of the property and its commanding view should sell the sites very rapidly.

Buy East End Site for $40,000.

Through the office of Woods & Coleman of the East End, H. Schneideman has sold to C. J. Lohner and Isabella Wallace 50x76.5 feet on the east side of Collins avenue, between Broad street and Penn avenue, Nineteenth ward, for $37,500. The lot is now improved with a small brick building used for a laundry. The price paid is at the rate of $750 a front foot, which is a top notch price for similar property in Collins avenue. Leopold Vilsack last year paid about $750 a front foot for a lot at Collins avenue and Kirkwood street, but in addition to its being a corner it had a much greater depth. The buyers will build a six-story store and flat to cost $40,000, at the expiration of the present leases.

S. Arnold & Co. by their agent, A. Kramer, sold to Max Feinberg the property at 2159-2165 Center avenue, for $47,000. It was owned by Dr. George H. Vaux and S. Arnold. On the lot, which measures 80x76 feet, are three two-story brick houses. It is the intention of the buyer to build modern store buildings on the site.

Nathan Somerman has purchased from Jennie M. Parker an improved lot, 45x73 feet, on the north side of Center avenue, near Kirkpatrick street, Thirteenth ward, for $14,500.

The Aronson Realty Company reports the sale for Abraham Miller to Samuel Weller of a solid brick warehouse and stable, 40x90 feet, at 1620-1622 Colwell street, extending back to Our alley, for $12,000.

Demands Hard to Fill.

Two demands in the real estate market just now are hard to fill. One is for ground within 15 or 20 minutes' ride of the downtown section which can be improved with good dwellings. When John F. Sweeny secured a plot on Mt. Washington last spring and built thereon 43 houses he got about the last good plot of that size that is on the market in the city wards south of the tunnel. Diligent search in other directions has failed to reveal any property similar in size that is suitable and cheap enough for such building. George H. Snickler has had the same difficulty and has gone beyond the city limits in his search for sites that would not make the initial cost of the operation too large. For where lots are high priced they have to be improved with houses that can be sold for from $8,000 up, and those builders have found by long experience that the best and most satisfactory profits are to be made in building houses that they can sell for $4,500 or less.

The other call, which grows louder every year, is for manufacturing sites. Where by chance an investor gets hold of a good factory site that is reasonably near the city he is apt to let it go for other purposes. A case of this kind is pending now where a local capitalist bought one of the best sites in Allegheny county, and because the residents of the neighborhood did not want a manufactory in their midst is likely to sell it to a land company now forming which will plot the property. Brokers report an active inquiry for sites up and down the rivers within a radius of 40 miles of Pittsburgh, and two large deals are now pending which may result in some big industrial developments soon.

Peckham and Haas, Wanted in Connection With Cotton Leak Scandal, Give Themselves Up.

NEW YORK, Oct. 13.—Frederick A. Peckham and Moses Haas, who were indicted in Washington in connection with the cotton leak scandal, today surrendered to the United States marshal here. They were arraigned before United States Commissioner Ridgeway, and bail was fixed at $10,000 each, which was furnished.

The new indictment on which the two men were arraigned today was also against Edwin S. Holmes and L. C. Van Riper, charging all collectively with having conspired to defraud by procuring advance information from Holmes concerning the government's crop report.

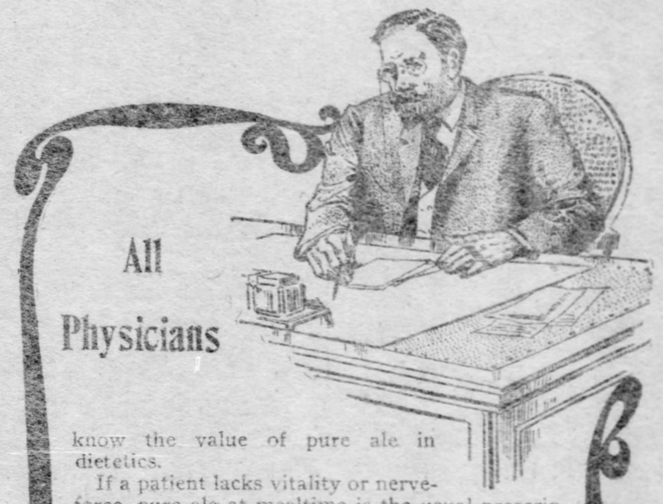
In an effort to evade a wagon while coming down Amity street, Homestead, in his automobile yesterday morning, Dr. Joseph A. Doyle of that place struck the curb and was thrown from his machine. He sustained severe bruises. The automobile continued in its course and crashed into a brick house, wrecking the car.



All Physicians know the value of pure ale in dietetics.

If a patient lacks vitality or nerve-force, pure ale at mealtime is the usual prescription.

The reason is because malt and hops are foods for both nerves and blood.

But the ale must be pure to be of benefit. We guarantee American Old Malt Ale to be more than three years old and of absolute purity. All its virtues come straight from the malted field barley and best Bohemian hops.

American Old Malt Ale is a genuine tonic—an aid to digestion.

STOCK MARKET ADVANCED ON VERY LIGHT TRADING

Closing Prices Were the Highest of the Day—Call Loans Easier—Fire Proofing Made a New Low Record, and Then Rallied.

By JOHN O. BAGLIN, Financial Editor.

Total transactions on the New York stock exchange yesterday fell below 400,000 shares, the smallest for any day of the week. The undertone, however, was firm, and prices steadily advanced to the close, which was at the highest of the day. The only activity was confined to a few specialties, the movements in which were not stimulated by any news. London quotations for American securities were steady to firm, and foreigners were moderate buyers on balance.

Sentiment seemed to be favorably affected by the easier tendency in call loans, which appeared late in the session. The rate remained firm at 6 per cent during the greater part of the day, but toward the close declined to 5 per cent, at which the final loan was made. The preliminary estimates of the movements of money during the week indicated very little change in cash holdings of the banks, and this raised hopes of a favorable statement today. The high rates have attracted funds from the interior, and this movement, it is thought, has been sufficient to effect the shipments of currency. The receipt of nearly $3,000,000 gold from Europe during the week will also tend to increase the strength of the showing today. There was some expectation that rates would be marked up yesterday, because on Monday large payments fall due on account of subscriptions to the Japanese war loan. The fact that rates were not only not advanced, but ruled a trifle easier, was also a factor in the strength of the stock market.

One of the most active of the industrials was Locomotive common, which advanced to 61 and closed at 60¾, a net gain of ⅝ per cent. There were reports of large orders booked by the company, but the movement in the stock appears to be purely speculative. Directors of the company are quoted as discouraging expectations of an early dividend on the common stock. United States Steel common closed ⅝ higher and the preferred ¾ higher, the final sale being at the highest of the day. In the late dealings there was a strong upward movement in Republic Iron & Steel, and both common and preferred closed 1¼ per cent higher, Tennessee Coal & Iron closed 1½ per cent higher.

American Smelting and Amalgamated Copper each closed ⅝ per cent higher than the day before. Anaconda Copper advanced 3 per cent on the report of a favorable decision in the Montana courts, the exact nature of which was not disclosed.

The anthracite coal stocks were moderately active and closed firm. Delaware & Hudson at an advance of 2 per cent and Reading ¾ per cent. The latter had sold down to 120⅝ early in the session, but subsequently rallied to 121¾. Pacific Mail continued its advance of the day before, which was based upon the indorsement by the American Bankers association of the principle of ship subsidies.

The professional traders who have again switched over to the bull side of the market, lay a great deal of stress upon the scarcity of stocks offering for sale as evidence that there is little or no danger of extended liquidation. They also look upon Union Pacific as likely to be the pivotal stock in the market, and as this stock closed at a net gain of 1 per cent, they construed its strength as reflecting the real attitude of the powers behind the market.

The action of National Fire Proofing indicated that the market had discounted the passage of the dividend on the preferred stock. The opening sale of the latter was at 21¼, a new low record for the year, but the next transaction was at 21⅝, and from that point the price advanced to 22¾, the highest of the week. The final sale was at 22⅛, a net loss for the day of ¼. The common stock was dull and unchanged at 6⅛ to 6¼. The absence of any official statement showing the earnings of the company and the present financial condition, was adversely commented upon. The buying was variously attributed to shorts covering and to supporting orders. The feeling is that the price will gradually sag when the short interest is eliminated, unless there is an official showing that will indicate that the passage of the dividend will be but temporary.

The only other active stock in the market was Crucible Steel. The common rallied to 13⅞, an advance of a fraction, while the preferred held steady at 67 to 67¼, closing unchanged for the day. Nearly 500 shares Ohio Fuel Supply changed hands at 37 to 36¾, a loss of ½. Philadelphia Company was also slightly lower, while Manufacturers Light & Heat closed unchanged at 36. River Coal bonds sold at 109, a decline of 2½ per cent from the last previous sale. River Coal preferred sold unchanged at 25⅜ to 25½.

NOTES AND COMMENT.

The local market took the announcement of the suspension of the dividend on National Fire Proofing preferred pretty much as expected. The total amount of stock which came out on the decline to 21¼, and the subsequent recovery to 22¾, was a little more than 2,600 shares. If the market should rally much further from the current level there will no doubt be additional short selling, because there is a pronounced feeling that the dividend will not be restored for at least a year. The argument is that if the company failed to obtain a satisfactory price for the proposed issue of $2,500,000 bonds when general business conditions are so good, it is not likely to be any more successful during the next three months at least, because the loaning value of money is likely to rule relatively high. The most propitious time for floating new bonds is when confidence is high and money is low in the market, and not when the commercial demand is absorbing every available dollar. There was a disposition to commend the management for electing to pass the dividend rather than sell bonds at a heavy discount, but at the same time there was sharp criticism for the failure to issue a financial statement at this time. The exact amount of the debt, the manner in which it was incurred, and the present earning power of the new plants acquired are things concerning which the stockholders are entitled to official information. A statement of the earnings for the past nine months of the current fiscal year, and an approximation of the orders on hand and business in sight, would probably save many small investors from making needless sacrifice of their stock. It is not improbable if this information is not voluntarily given, a committee representing stockholders will make a formal demand for it.

Whitney, Stephenson & Co. and G. W. McMullen & Co. were among the largest buyers of Fire Proofing stocks yesterday. The selling was well scattered.

Crucible Steel common made a new high price for the year by selling at 13¾. The preferred remained steady and unchanged at 67@67¼.

The exports of breadstuffs are being watched with considerable interest just now because of their bearing upon our ability to draw gold from Europe. The exports of wheat and flour as wheat this week, according to Bradstreet's report, were 2,774,000 bushels, which is 600,000 bushels larger than the previous largest total for any week this year. The exports of corn were 975,000 bushels, which is slightly under recent weekly totals. The report of the bureau of statistics, issued yesterday, shows that the value of our principal exports of domestic products for September was $69,677,377, as compared with $72,335,747 in the same month last year. The value of our exports of breadstuffs was $12,980,000, more than double the total for the same time last year, but exports of cotton were valued at only $32,788,000, as compared with $43,742,325 in the same month last year. For the nine months of the calendar year the value of agricultural and mineral oil exports was $318,052,011, the largest for any corresponding period since 1901, and an increase of $8,256,000 over the nine months of 1904. From this time forward our exports of wheat and flour are likely to be large, and will offset in some measure the decrease in exports of cotton.

The National City Bank of New York has sent a circular to holders of the United States 4s of 1907, advising them to refund, since at 2 per cent the bonds will not lose more than 1 per cent per annum to maturity. To holders of not less than $10,000 of the 4s who may refund them into 2s the bank makes the following proposition in regard to the 2s: "We will agree to borrow them from you, and pay you a special rate per annum for their use in addition to the 2 per cent payable by the government. In this way you will have United States bonds yielding you practically three times what your 4s do at current quotations. For your bonds we will give you our formal receipt carrying the bank's signature and seal. The arrangement would be cancelable at your option or our option on 90 days' notice, though should you wish to sell your bonds to us, we will waive the 90 days' notice, pay you the highest market rate for them and send you our cashier's check for the proceeds upon the surrender of our receipt. Such bonds as we borrow from you will so appear on our books which are subject to the regular inspection of the bank examiners of the United States government."

At a special meeting of the Lehigh Valley railroad stockholders there was authorized an issue of $19,000,000 of 4 per cent collateral bonds. The same is to be used for the purchase of the coal-bearing lands, mines and plants of Coxe Brothers.

Henry Clews says: "A wave of prosperity begets a wave of extravagance, which in turn begets a wave of speculation, resulting in a wave of high prices, which produces a wave of increased rates for money. There were in this country at the present time seven to be poverty, as there is plenty of work at high wages for willing hands. The railroads are doing well; the shops are all doing well; labor is doing well, and people everywhere are living well, and the only exception to this reign of prosperity is the life insurance companies."

There is a probability that at their next meeting Norfolk & Western directors will take action placing the common stock on a 4 per cent basis by declaring of a semi-annual dividend of 2 per cent.

The unfilled business on the books of the Carnegie Steel Company is reported to be between 3,000,000 and 3,500,000 tons, the largest amount reported in the history of the company.

The gross earnings of Louisville & Nashville for the first week in October increased $34,970.

Gross earnings of Allegheny Valley for August increased $16,693, and net increased $121,615. The gross for eight months increased $613,560, and the net increased $500,736.

The Copper Securities Company, the stock of which is now being dealt in on New York curb at 25⅝, is a Heinze concern. Capital stock is $10,000,000, of which only $2,000,000 has been issued. The par is $25 a share. The company is distinctly a holding company, and it will buy stocks of other corporations.

The regular quarterly dividend of 1¾ per cent has been declared by Northern Pacific, payable November 1 to stock of record October 18.

The forecast of the weekly currency movement had some influence in easing call loan rates yesterday. Payments for new gold and for bonds have reduced the loanings by the banks to the sub-treasury to $741,000, compared with $1,987,000 last week. But while the interior absorbed a large amount of cash last week on the regular express movement, the loss running to near $5,000,000 then, it appears that the movement has shifted so far to the New York banks as to have yielded to the banks something like a million dollars on balance. The figures indicate a nominal gain in cash for the week compared with the recent large losses. The usual obscurity surrounds the loan item as between the conflicting influences of the week's liquidation in the stock market and the preparations for the Japanese loan subscriptions.

The dullness and strength of New York stocks yesterday is significant of the condition in the market. Holders do not sell unless forced to do so by withdrawals of credits, but conditions are so close in the money market that no encouragement is given for entering upon operations for an advance. Whatever preparations are necessary for the payment on Monday of final subscriptions to the Japanese loan would have their effect in yesterday's stock market, since loans made on the stock exchange on Friday carry over until Monday. The rate was pretty firmly held around 6 per cent until the principal needs were satisfied, but for some extent later in the day.

LITTLE CHANGE NOTED IN LOCAL QUOTATIONS

Peaches and Grapes Firm in the Market—New Malagas Are in Stock.

The fruit, produce and grocery markets almost without exception remained stationary yesterday so far as prices were concerned. Receipts of fruit were light and the price in all lines showed a tendency to stiffen. This was especially true of peaches, which are in scant supply, the best grades commanding a little better than list quotations. Grapes are firm at 18 and 19 cents a basket of eight pounds. Malaga grapes made their first appearance in market yesterday and are quoted at $4 50 to $5 50 a barrel. Winter apples are in larger supply and are selling well.

In the vegetable line beets and cucumbers, home grown, are nearly gone. Turnips are plenty in market and horse radish is selling freely. There is still a few cantaloupes on the street. Lima beans are getting very scarce. Good receipts of squashes and peppers are noted. The potato market is firm and wholesalers seem determined to keep the price up, owing to the poor reports received from the big potato districts.

HAY AND GRAIN.

Receipts.

Receipts yesterday were—Pennsylvania lines, 4 cars hay, 3 cars oats, 1 car feed, 2 cars rye; Baltimore & Ohio railroad, 4 cars hay, 1 car oats; Pittsburgh & Lake Erie railroad, 4 cars hay, 1 car oats.

The market was firm and active. Hay is in excellent demand, with only fair arrivals. Straw advanced 25 cents a ton yesterday for oat and wheat, and the supply is not adequate for the calls, as the liverymen are beginning to take large quantities. Corn is also shy of the demand and the price is very firm.

The Wool Market.

BOSTON, Oct. 12.—The Commercial Bulletin will say tomorrow of the wool market: Representatives from New England, New York and Pennsylvania mills have been around the market looking for supplies. Considering the limited offerings, a very fair business has been transacted. Territory, fleece, scoured and Australian wools have moved well. Dealers are exceedingly firm in their views and prices show a decided upward tendency. One of the largest operators in territory wools estimates that at the present time there is not more than 40 per cent left of the amount that was available at the same time last year. Fleeces have had a good demand, except in fine. More business could be done in quarters and three-eighths if dealers would shade prices, but they refuse to make sales except at full market prices. The attitude of western sheep men who are demanding the highest price for their 1905 clips has practically stopped contracting. A small amount has, however, been contracted in Western Idaho at 19@20c. Many growers are so reluctant to sell their wools in advance that they will not even name a figure on which they would contract. Holders of fall wools in California and Texas have also high ideas as to values, and nothing is being done. The shipments of wool from Boston to date from December 29, 1904, according to the same authority are 191,884,456 pounds, against 182,198,207 pounds at the same time last year. The receipts to date are 286,244,450 pounds, against 271,878,428 pounds for the same period last year.

BEARISH SENTIMENT RULES THE MARKET

Increased Receipts of Wheat Cause December Option to Drop—Corn Also Down.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

CHICAGO, Oct. 13.—Increased receipts both northwest and southwest created bearish sentiment today in the wheat market here. At the close the December option was off ⅝c. Corn is down ⅛c. Oats show a gain of ⅛@¼c. Provisions are unchanged.

Weakness in the wheat market developed toward the end of the first hour. At the start the tone was quite firm, December opening a shade to ⅛@¼c higher at 86¾@86¼c. A small advance at Liverpool was credited with being responsible for part of the initial firmness. A more potent reason, possibly, was open buying on the part of a leading bull. Moderate demand from the big long held the market firm for a time, notwithstanding several bearish factors.

As a result of this buying December sold up to 86⅞c. On withdrawal of the bull support, the market broke quite sharply, December declining to 85¾c. Eastern and commission houses were free sellers. An influence that contributed materially to the weakness was liberal movement of wheat to market. Receipts today in the northwest were of large proportions. In the southwest arrivals were larger than for the corresponding day a year ago. In addition, cash markets at all the principal grain centers of the United States showed a slightly easier tone, and there was little in the export news to encourage bulls. Weakness prevailed during the remainder of the session. Closing prices were at almost the lowest point of the day, final quotations on December being 85⅞@85¾c. Clearances of wheat and flour were equal to 282,000 bushels. Exports for the week as shown by Bradstreet's were 2,774,000 bushels. Primary receipts were 1,347,000 bushels, compared with 1,357,000 bushels a year ago. Minneapolis, Duluth and Chicago reported receipts of 935 cars, against 913 cars last week and 938 cars a year ago.

The corn market was weak from start to finish. Values could not withstand the almost universal conviction that a record-breaking crop was now practically safe from all possible injury by frost. Several prominent commission houses were free sellers. The weakness of wheat had a bearish effect late in the day. The market closed weak. December opened a shade to ⅛c lower, at 44⅝ to 44¾@44⅝c, sold off to 44¼c, and closed at the lowest figure. Local receipts were 199 cars, with 47 of contract grade.

Oats were easier in sympathy with the weakness of other grains. The volume of trade was much smaller than for days past. December opened a shade higher at 28¾c, sold off to 28⅝c and closed at the lowest point. Local receipts were 305 cars.

Provisions were strong on active demand from shorts, and on fair buying for investment account. At the close January pork was up 10c at $12 62½. Lard showed a gain of 5@7½c at $6 95. Ribs were up 12½c at $5 62½.

Estimated receipts for tomorrow: Wheat, 60 cars; corn, 219 cars; oats, 455 cars; hogs, 15,000 head.

The leading futures, as reported by John D. Armstrong & Co., Farmers' bank building, Pittsburgh, members of the Chicago board of trade, ranged as follows:

NEWS FROM THE MINES.

A great deal of importance is attached to the visit of Charles M. Schwab to the Tonopah, Goldfield and Bullfrog districts of Nevada last week, since the intimation was conveyed that that gentleman and his associates will acquire new properties and furnish the facilities for operating all their mines more economically. On this subject the Tonopah Miner says:

"For nearly two years the Schwab-McKane interests have had the largest payrolls in the Tonopah. It was partly at their behest that Tonopah Extension put its present splendid stage of development, with a rapidly increasing output. But the Tonopah Extension, like other mines in Tonopah, is prevented from being operated to its full capacity by the Smelter Trust, which has restricted its shipments and that of other mines in Nye and Ormsby. This is a situation that is irksome to Mr. Schwab, and he is determined to end it by installing in Tonopah or its immediate vicinity a plant for the treatment of the Tonopah Extension and other mines in which he is interested, and thus give to the stockholders the enormous profits now paid to the Smelter Trust. If he elects to be the pioneer in the smelting industry he will carry it to a conclusion in the same aggressive manner that has characterized all of his undertakings."

At the regular monthly meeting of the directors of the El Paso Consolidated Gold Mining Company at Colorado Springs a dividend of 1 cent a share was declared. The dividend last month was 2 cents a share, but the cut was not unexpected in view of the recent rapid decline of El Paso stock on the mining exchange. The dividend for the month amounted to $24,000. The mine has paid a total in dividends of $1,626,000.

A quarterly dividend of 3 cents a share has been declared by the directors of the Vindicator Gold Mining Company. The dividend amounts to $23,056. The company has paid a total of $1,155,000.

The United States Reduction and Refining Company is erecting a new experimental mill at Colorado City for the purpose of testing a lately devised cyanide process. The mill will be in operation within 60 days and the tailings from the main plants of the company will be used for test purposes.

Recent news from the Cable Lease mine, located near Butte, Mont., in which several Pittsburghers are interested, is of a very gratifying character. Private sales of treasury stock were made at double par.

The Pittsburgh Gold Mountain Mining Company, a close corporation of Pittsburghers, owns 11 claims, 220 acres located at Darrington, Wash. The company has tunnels and crosscuts and is now sacking ore ready for shipment. The ore assays from $40 to $50 per ton in gold, silver and copper, and in lead, and bismuth from 150 to 1252. The outlook seems flattering for the shareholders.

Stockholders of the Ohio-Tonopah Mining Company have received this circular: Many of our largest stockholders have expressed themselves as being opposed to the formation of a separate corporation to handle the Logan property. It has therefore been decided to discontinue the plan first proposed and set forth in letter issued under date of September 15, 1905, and, in lieu thereof, the company has acquired and will operate the Logan mine direct, instead of acting as a holding company with a divided ownership. The property is being shaped up to begin the mining and shipping of ore, and it is the purpose of the management to increase the capacity of the mill by putting in additional stamps as rapidly as possible. The latest report from Manager Irby, who is now at Cuba, on his way from Cleveland to Tonopah, states that the mine looks finer and that he is more highly pleased with the outlook than ever. Everything indicates that the Logan property is to be one of the great mines of Nevada. In this connection 50,000 shares of treasury stock are hereby offered to the present stockholders at 25 cents a share, subscriptions to be received and paid for on or before October 21, 1905.

Foreign Money Market.

LONDON, Oct. 13.—Rates for money were strong in the market today owing to the stock exchange demand. Discounts were firm, partly due to the continental exchanges. Trading on the stock exchange opened with prices nearly owing to the prospects of dearer money and the absence of fresh business. There were no indications of renewed inflation. The cause of one small firm, jobbers to American's, part to Calcutta to Norfolk, was announced, but the influence had not spread. The report, however, exercised an all-round unsettling influence. Consols were dull, but recovered a fraction. Home rails were irregular. Americans opened steady. The movements were narrow and mixed at exactly at a fraction over parity. The market was inactive and entirely lacked to New York's lead. Prime bonds were quiet. Canadian Pacific was buoyant and dragged Trunks and a few others. GIVE PRIZES FOR BEST TRACKAGE

Wright, Clary, Hess and Leary Are Lucky Supervisors on Pennsylvania Lines.

FINISH ANNUAL INSPECTION

One hundred and thirty officers of the operating and maintenance departments of the Pennsylvania lines west reached the Union station last night after having spent four days in the annual general manager's inspection. The party had occupied three special trains for the inspection, and while they were on the road they occupied the track observation cars most of the time. With the exception of the rain and cold of Wednesday and the chilly air of Thursday, the officers had pleasant weather for the trip, which included about 1,000 miles of road. Aside from the announcement of the general manager's prizes for the best supervisor's sub-divisions, based on line and surface conditions, there was nothing said about matters determined on in the way of improvements. Nothing official could be secured on the report from Ashtabula that the company will spend $3,000,000 there on the harbor in addition to the $1,000,000 that is now being spent for improvements. The committee on general manager's prizes made the following awards:

Eastern and Pittsburgh divisions of the main lines—First prize, $100, to John Wright of Crestline, supervisor of the eastern division from Smithville to Crestline. Second prize, $50, to Henry Hess of Dennison, supervisor of the Pittsburgh division from Dennison to Newark.

Cleveland and Pittsburgh, Erie and Ashtabula and Toledo divisions and the Chartiers railway—First prize, $100, to Simon Clary of Carnegie, supervisor of the Chartiers railway. Second prize, $50, to J. Leary of Ashtabula, supervisor of the Pittsburgh, Youngstown & Ashtabula railroad (Erie & Ashtabula division) between Ashtabula and Niles.

While these prizes are not for large amounts of money, it is not on this phase of the prize that value is attached, but on the mere prize itself. The supervisors who were awarded the prizes are to be congratulated, for when all of the supervisors of the divisions covered are vieing for the prizes and spend extra effort in preparation for the inspection, it is no matter of small concern that attaches to the lucky men.

The inspection party included the entire staff of General Manager G. L. Peck, from the general superintendents and chief engineers of maintenance of way on down the official line to the supervisors of the whole system west of this city. In addition to the track inspection, the trip always gives opportunity for conference and for discussion of various methods of operations and road work.

B. & O. Move Attracts Attention.

The matter of the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad Company preparing to and largely to its freight receipts by encouraging the farmers of the Ohio valley to grow more fruit and produce is attracting wide attention among the railroad men of the country. The company has had industrial agents working on its system for several years, but these have paid more especial attention to the location of industries than to the development of farming. As was announced in this column a few days ago, the company has appointed S. B. Shaw, formerly assistant horticulturist of the Maryland experiment station at College Park, to the position of assistant industrial agent, with jurisdiction over the Ohio River division more particularly. Professor Shaw was in Pittsburgh yesterday collecting information on market quotations that he will compile in convenient form for distribution among the farmers along the line. This and the additional information that will be furnished in a practical manner by Professor Shaw cannot fail to be of immeasurable benefit to land owners, for it promises early and sure profits.

The territory covered by Professor Shaw will extend from Wheeling to Huntington, a distance of about 200 miles. After thoroughly posting himself on the prices paid for fruit and produce in Pittsburgh and nearby towns during every month in the year, as well as in other large cities along the Baltimore & Ohio, Mr. Shaw will attend all the farmers' institutes in the Ohio valley and instruct the farmers in the practical phases of growing and marketing small fruits and vegetables. The valley which he will travel in is narrow, but is very fertile and offers a splendid field for the more extensive growing of these products. Farmers throughout the country will appreciate the full extent of this move, as it shows that their freight is coming to be of more importance to the railroads in spite of enormous iron and coal business, and it will aid greatly in developing the natural resources of the farming territory, as every aid will be given the farmers in helping them to get suitable seed and in pointing out the most practical and efficient methods of growing crops.

Well Prepared to Entertain Visitors.

The local committee on entertainment for the annual convention of the Association of Railway Superintendents of Bridges and Buildings, which will be held here next week, has made elaborate preparations for the entertainment of the visitors outside of the convention sessions. The committee is composed of H. W. Fletcher of Allegheny, formerly superintendent of bridges and buildings on the Chicago & Northwestern line, but now retired; G. H. Soles, superintendent of bridges and buildings of the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie, and C. W. Ritchey, master carpenter of the West Penn division of the Pennsylvania. Following are heads of the arrangements made: Tuesday afternoon, trolley trip for the women of the party; Tuesday evening, visit to the exposition by the entire party; Wednesday, visit to the Heinz works by the women; Wednesday evening, entire party for the Belasco theater performance; Thursday, trip of Women to Mt. The Indefatigable Lent.

John F. Lent is giving the shipping public something to think about every once in a while. A few months ago he became traffic manager of two industrial companies, and has now two of these companies and two steamship lines to look after. He has just issued a handy telephone card on which is printed a list of 42 of the leading industrial companies having traffic departments, and of this number Mr. Lent represents 11. On the same card the telephone numbers, name of the company and name of traffic manager are given. On the same number are found about 90 railroad traffic offices. Each list is given in alphabetical order. Mr. Lent has also begun issuing a monthly circular of intended sailings of ocean steamers from New York, Philadelphia, Baltimore, Newport News and Norfolk, to the principal ports of the world.

B. & O. Men to Talk Schedule.

The passenger representatives of the Baltimore & Ohio railroad from all points of the system will gather here next Wednesday for a conference on the fall schedule changes. The sessions will be presided over by D. B. Martin, manager of passenger traffic, and the sessions will be held at the Hotel Lincoln. What changes are in prospect cannot be learned at this time, although it is said the betterments of a marked nature will be made in time and equipment of some of the through trains.

Railroad Notes.

H. J. Booth, general freight agent of the Wheeling & Lake Erie, was in the city.

G. B. Obey, superintendent of the Monongahela railroad, was a Pittsburgh visitor.

E. T. White, superintendent of motive power of the Baltimore & Ohio, was in the city.

Charles Johnson, yardmaster of the Buffalo, Rochester & Pittsburgh at Punxsutawney, is visiting his brother in Wheeling.

Dick Lowe, passenger engineer on the Baltimore & Ohio, is again handling the throttle instead of fingering the trigger in a good hunting jaunt.

N. B. Reid, timekeeper of the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie, is spending his vacation at his home in Cumberland and will also take a jaunt to eastern cities before his return.

M. B. Walker, city passenger agent of the Baltimore & Ohio, is enjoying his evenings at home especially well these nights, for he is breaking in a handsome rocker given him by his associates on his birthday a few days ago.

The Pennsylvania's coal and coke shipments last week totaled 924,584 tons—611,548 tons of bituminous coal, 225,005 tons of coke and 78,125 tons of anthracite coal. The year's shipments to October 7 are a gain of almost 15 per cent over the same period last year.

TRIBUTE TO NIXON.

Funeral Train Bearing Friends Is the Largest That Ever Crossed State of New York.

WESTFIELD, N. Y., Oct. 13.—The funeral of S. Fred Nixon, later speaker of the state assembly, which was held here today, was made the occasion for a demonstration of public mourning that has not been witnessed in this, the Western part of the state since the death of President McKinley at Buffalo.

The special train bearing Gov. Higgins and members of the legislature, besides other state officials and friends of the dead speaker, numbered 16 cars, the largest funeral train that ever crossed the state. The body lay in state in the Presbyterian church for several hours and was viewed by the throngs of people.

DISTINGUISHED AMERICANS LEAVE JAPAN AMID CHEERS

Miss Alice Roosevelt and Companions and E. H. Harriman and Party Start for Home—Great Trade Possibilities in the Orient.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

YOKOHAMA, Oct. 13.—The Pacific Mail steamship Siberia sailed for San Francisco this afternoon with Miss Alice Roosevelt and her traveling companions, and E. H. Harriman, president of the Southern Pacific Company, and his party on board. The distinguished Americans were given a great send off by the Japanese, the resident foreigners and the city officials. Before his departure Mr. Harriman said:

"We have been treated with the utmost courtesy and consideration by all classes of the Japanese people, and largely because we are Americans. We had no disagreeable experiences. At Tokyo, Dr. Lyle was accidentially hit with a stone when not with the party, he being unknown to his assailant. From all we met with the same direct, straightforward treatment as at home and experienced no difficulty from the Orientals.

"I believe there is a market here for American goods, but they should be handled by Americans directly representing the shippers, who should closely follow the styles and quality of goods demanded in this market. The market here, like others, must be carefully watched and competed for. There will be a gradually increasing trade between the two countries, but it cannot be developed suddenly.

"I am leaving with regret. Our stay was too short, but I believe it marks the beginning of the association which will result in a lasting commercial alliance between America and Japan. Our interests, however, must be husbanded by direct, straightforward methods."

LEHIGH PURCHASES ALL COXE BROS.' PROPERTIES

Buys Out Equipment and Business of Largest Operators in Anthracite Field.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 13.—At a special meeting of the board of directors of the Lehigh Valley Railroad Company, held here today, the purchase of the "entire capital of Coxe Bros., the Delaware, Susquehanna & Schuylkill railroad and allied water companies, and other water companies, together with all collieries and properties" was authorized. The properties will not be paid for by the issue of collateral trust bonds, which will be redeemed beginning in 1907.

The purchase of these properties carries with it the ownership of all the collieries and mine properties of Coxe Bros. & Co., including over 1,100 miners' houses, all the real estate of that company in Chicago and Milwaukee; the floating equipment in New York harbor as well as the railroad equipment of the Delaware, Susquehanna & Schuylkill company; all coal mined and on hand, together with all railroad and mine supplies.

It is learned on good authority the bond issue will be for $18,000,000, bearing interest at the rate of 4 per cent. Coxe Bros. & Co., it is stated, will take $12,000,000 of this issue. What disposition will be made of the remainder is not known.

The issue is secured by a pledge of the stocks of the Coxe Bros. & Co., and the Delaware, Susquehanna & Schuylkill Railroad Company.

The Lehigh Valley Company will take possession on November 10. Coxe Bros. & Co. are the largest individual operators in the anthracite field, their annual capacity exceeding 2,000,000 tons.

HURRY TO ESCAPE ARREST LEADS TO UGLY INJURY

Joseph Fitzsimmons fell and cut his head badly when he escaped from Officer James Delehanty, who was trying to arrest him yesterday. He and Edward McGann were fighting in O'Brien's alley, near Sixth avenue. In the mixup Fitzsimmons tore the sleeve out of Delehanty's coat and got away, but fell down and lay stunned, while McGann was being held at a patrol box. Fitzsimmons was then picked up and sent to the Homeopathic hospital.

A meeting is scheduled for the executive committee of the various rivers and harbors committee and the Ohio body will not be in the rear ranks when it comes to pushing matters for the improvement of the waterways of the country. LITTLE RISE HELPS.

Boats Tied Up at Points Down Ohio Can Navigate.

The increase of almost two feet in the local rivers during the past two days has started some activity in river interests. The wharf was crowded with men yesterday looking for positions. It is certain, however, that no coal will go out on this rise as it is not sufficient. Boats tied up at down stream points will proceed to the local harbor wherever it is possible. The Tornado went down to Legionville yesterday and added the Cruiser up the river with a tow of supplies that have been tied up for several weeks.

Local rivermen were warned yesterday from the headquarters of Harbor No. 25 of a dangerous gravel bar that has formed about 900 feet below lock 18 in the Ohio. It is on the West Virginia side, about 300 feet from the shore.

The I. C. Woodward arrived at the wharf yesterday morning from Morgantown and returned yesterday afternoon for up river points.

PREPARE TO OBSERVE SILVER ANNIVERSARY

Pittsburgh Agency of Equitable Life Assurance Society Is 25 Years Old.

Arrangements are being made by Edward A. Woods, manager of the Pittsburgh agency of the Equitable Life Assurance Society, to observe the 25th anniversary of the establishment of the local agency by his father, the Rev. Dr. George Woods, who resigned as chancellor of the Western University of Pennsylvania to engage in that undertaking.

The event will be observed on November 1 when the guest of honor will be the Hon. Paul Morton, the newly-elected president of the society. During the afternoon a reception will be held in the offices of the local agency in the Frick building, when policy-holders in the company will be invited to meet President Morton. It will be his first visit to an agency since entering upon his new position.

On the evening of November 1 the regular fall meeting of the Pittsburgh agency will take the form of a dinner to be given at the Hotel Schenley, where Mr. Morton will deliver an address which will be his first public utterance on insurance matters since becoming an insurance official.

The growth of the Pittsburgh agency and its importance is best realized when the fact is considered that among the 38 most important insurance companies in this country the local agency of the Equitable Life does a business that is only equalled and excelled by the world business of 29 of these companies.

The agency was started in the McClintock building, a five-story structure, then the largest office building in Pittsburgh and the only office building in the city at that time having a passenger elevator. During the first year the premium income was $10,529 as against $3,062,657 during the current year. At that time two people were employed in the local office. The staff has grown until it now numbers 215. New business in 1880 amounted to $21,000, as against $14,216,554 during the past year. The total insurance in force in this vicinity at the time of the establishment of the office was $279,500, while today the figures given are $78,235,500.

The growth of Pittsburgh during the past quarter of century can best be realized when it is known that there were no electric cars, no electric lights and no natural gas in the city at the time of the establishment of the Pittsburgh agency of the Equitable Life Assurance society, and that at that time telephones were novelties and typewriters practically unknown.

WILL RATIFY TREATY TODAY.

Closing Incident of the Peace Agreement to Come About by a Series of Cablegrams.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 13.—It has been arranged that the ratifications of the Russian-Japanese treaty shall be exchanged tomorrow. Mr. Takahira, the Japanese minister, will notify the state department that his emperor has signed the treaty at Tokyo. The state department will notify the American embassy at St. Petersburg to that effect and Spencer Eddy, the charge there, will duly notify the Russian government. That government in turn will notify the French foreign office in Paris, through its own ambassador in that city, that the Russian emperor has signed his copy of the treaty.

The French foreign office will notify its minister in Tokyo, and he in turn will inform the Japanese foreign office and this will be regarded as a formal exchange of ratifications.

STATE WILL GET MONEY.

Comptroller of Treasury Renders a Decision in Favor of Pennsylvania on Old War Loan.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 13.—(Special.)—Comptroller of the Treasury Tracewell today rendered a decision which was based on an appeal taken by the state of Pennsylvania from a former decision by the auditor of the war department allowing the state $16,986 in payment for money borrowed by Pennsylvania and loaned to the federal government during the war of 1812.

Mr. Tracewell allows the state $20,154 more than was awarded by the war department auditor of $37,120 in all. The claim was made under an act passed last February authorizing the settlement of the claims of Pennsylvania, New York and Delaware for advances made by them to the government in the second war with Great Britain.

Prospects for Cheaper Light.

Davis of Homestead council, yesterday received the representatives of the new Homestead Light & Power Company, recently organized in the borough, and agreed to call a special meeting of the borough council for next Thursday evening to consider an ordinance giving the company franchises in the town. The company is capitalized at $5,000 and will immediately increase the sum to $100,000. It proposes to lower the rates for all kinds of light service.

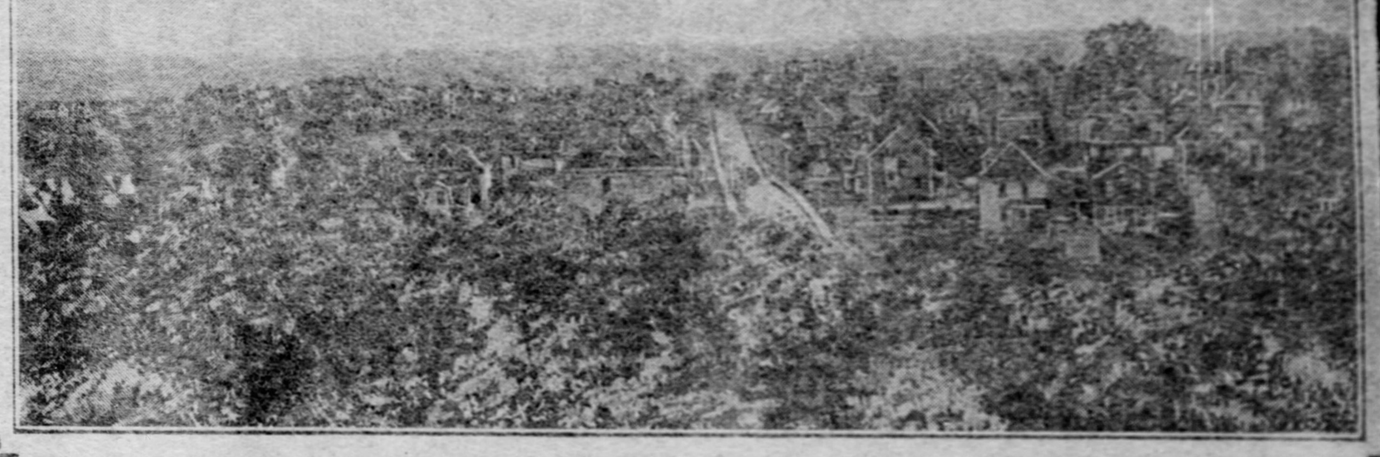
BELLEVUE EXTENSION

DON'T FORGET THE PRICES

$5 TO $15 PER FOOT



Before you buy a lot anywhere, make a comparison of prices on the front foot basis and see what you are getting for your money. As a matter of fact, prices in "Bellevue Extension" are down to a basis which can welcome comparison.

THINK BEFORE YOU INVEST

That is why we quote them freely and without hesitation. Where can you buy desirable residence frontage for $5 to $15 per foot—even in remote, undeveloped sections?

And mind you, "Bellevue Extension" lies right alongside of the best that Bellevue has to offer. It is one block from the car line, and only five blocks from the very center of Bellevue, with its Churches, Schools, Banks, Stores—all of those things which make land values.

Prices in Bellevue proper range from $40 to $60 per foot. One step farther, into "Bellevue Extension," and we are selling it for $5 to $15 per foot.

In other words, a lot in Bellevue will cost you at least three times as much as a lot in "Bellevue Extension." Look into this before you invest.

IS THERE MONEY IN LOTS?

"Is there money to be made in lot investments?" That is a question which many people put to us. It depends on where you buy and how much you pay for the lot. We can say this much sincerely, that a lot in "Bellevue Extension" for say $15 per foot, cannot help being a money-maker. This beautiful piece of acreage thrown open to the public today, must enhance in value. It is needed for homes. You can't prevent Bellevue from growing. Next year if you come back and offer $750 for a 50-foot lot in "Bellevue Extension" you will be laughed at.

Two years ago you could have bought a 50 foot corner lot in Forest Avenue for $1,000, or $20 per foot. The other day we received an offer of $2,000 for the same lot. The owner will not take less than $2,500. That lot adjoins "Bellevue Extension." Ask some of your Bellevue friends about the advance in prices since they located in this attractive suburb.

SEE FOR YOURSELF

Come down today or Sunday and let us show you that we are dealing with facts.

Take a "Bellevue" car. Get off at Thomas and Forest avenues and you will find yourself within 300 feet of the property.

Terms, 10 per cent cash, 3 per cent per month, 10 per cent discount for cash in 60 days. We pay taxes and interest till you get your deed. Policy of title insurance with every lot. Building restrictions all over the plan.
